HUNGER WAR AGENCY URGED

Report Finds No Reason For Malnutrition In U.S.

. . . LEADERS GLOOMY ABOUT NIXON'S REACTION

Washington (UPI) — Leaders of a recent White House food conference praised President Nixon Wednesday for his antihunger steps but urged him to establish a White House office to accomplish his nutrition goals.

The 13 leaders of the White House Conference on Food, Nutrition and Health held Dec. 2-4 sent a telegram to Nixon to coincide with the White House release of the conference's final report, which he received Christmas Eve.

The 645-page report concluded that there was no reason whatever for any American to be hungry and suggested the means by which hunger could be alleviated.

Privately, some of the conference leadership expressed gloom about how their report would be received. One source said, "I think the President is not interested in it right now."

In the telegram, the leaders urged Nixon to "establish a specific food and nutrition liaison office in the White House to accomplish the objectives of the war on hunger."

Their praise for the President was for his "significant series of actions and orders" announced before Christmas to feed the hungry.

The administration pledged to make school lunches available to needy children by next Thanksgiving and strengthen the food stamp program for needy families.

Dr. Jean Mayer, the conference chairman, said in the report, "We have now reached the point, with our technology, where it is possible to feed all the people in this country."

If the poor can't afford food, they need money, the report said. If they lack nutritional knowledge, they can be taught better. Television soap operas, newspapers and even comic books might be better used to educate Americans in the proper uses of food.

Improvement Possible

Food can be distributed more efficiently, made safer, labeled better, and sometimes sold cheaper, the report added.

"The President and the Congress must supply the leadership in closing the hunger gap," it said.

The belief that widespread hunger is a myth was summarily dismissed.

"Hunger and poverty exist on a disgraceful scale in the United States," the report said. "The nation's conscience will no longer stand for the toleration of these conditions."

Yet, it added, the nation's conscience has tolerated the paradoxes of hunger amidst affluence.

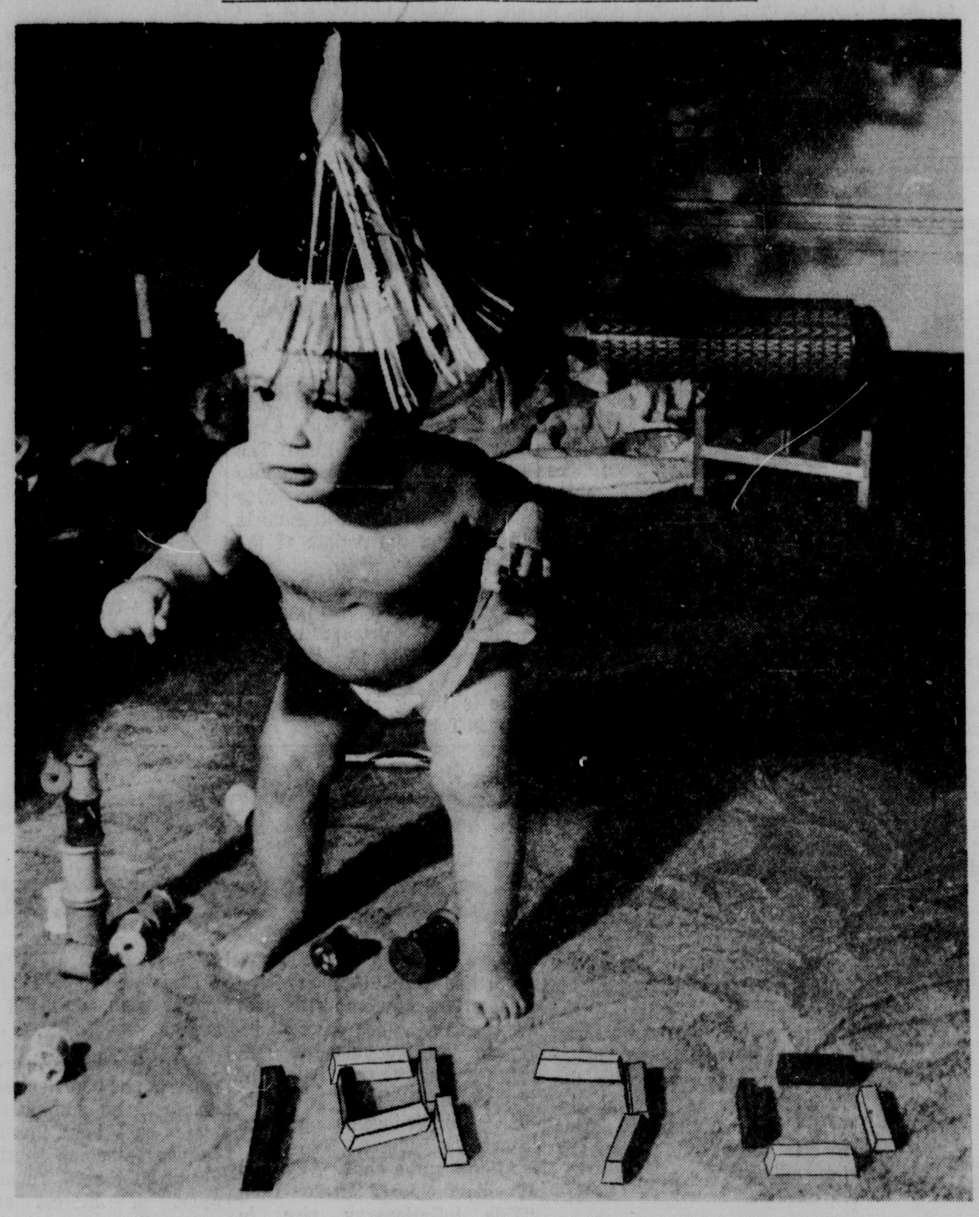

Children have gone to school hungry while good, nourishing food such as canned blackberries and pancake mixes gathered dust in federal warehouses. The federal food machinery has been scattered in sometimes hostile government agencies, it said.

Powers Fragmented

"Balkanization of responsibilities and authorities constitute a serious barrier to a concerted attack on hunger and malnutrition," the report charged.

Mayer told Nixon to forget those angrier conference voices which are said to have insulted the president.

The more strident conference participants, described by presidential counselor Daniel Patrick Moynihan as "extremists," called for such things as immediate declaration of a national hunger emergency and a guaranteed annual income of $5,500 for a family of four.

GUNBOATS ARRIVE . . .

2 Generals Suspended

Paris (AP) — The French government angrily suspended two four-star generals Wednesday for their role in the Israeli gunboat affair and told Israel to withdraw two diplomats who set up a dummy shipping company that enabled the five ships to slip away from Cherbourg.

The five boats, manned by Israeli crews, slipped into the Israeli port of Haifa Wednesday night after a week-long 3,500-mile voyage from France.

Israeli jets performed victory rolls overhead and cameras whirred and flash bulbs popped on land as the boats and their smiling crewmen threaded their way past docked freighters to tie up.

More Than 4 Hours

The French government action was announced after a New Year's Eve cabinet meeting of more than four hours. It stopped short of a diplomatic break but placed an added strain on already taut relations between the two governments.

Government spokesman Leo Hamon quoted President Georges Pompidou as saying in apparent reassurance to the Arab world: "This incident modifies none of the principles or the application of French policy in the Middle East."

"The government reaffirms its policy," Pompidou said. "In particular, France will not modify the regulations relating to the limitations on arms deliveries, as they have been previously defined, regretting that its example has not been followed."

Action Of Group

This appeared to be the government's way of saying the departure of the gunboats for Israel does not reflect official policy but was an action by a group that disregarded this policy.

Israel was not asked to apologize for breaking the French arms embargo or explain how the boats managed to slip out of Cherbourg before dawn Christmas day.

The suspended officers are Gen. Louis Bonte, 61, director of international affairs for the ministerial delegation of armaments, and Gen. Bernard Cazelles, 59, secretary general at the defense ministry.

Bonte passed on the papers that allowed the boats to leave as property of a Norwegian company. Cazelles, highest staff officer in the French defense ministry, also had to approve the contract.

City Sales Tax Goes Into Effect

. . . STATE LEVY RISES

A dollar item purchased today will cost a penny more than it did Wednesday.

But the increase is not because of inflation.

The city's one-half per cent sales and use tax, passed by the City Council Sept. 1, goes into effect Thursday and covers all purchases subject to a state sales and use tax.

The state sales tax will also go up one-half per cent today, so purchasers will pay a total tax of three per cent.

City Finance Director James Mallon said the city should receive an estimated $675,000 in the fiscal year ending Aug. 31 in receipts from the city tax.

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf said that the city has been behind in a number of areas, such as the installation of storm sewers. "The sales tax revenue will allow us to catch up without increasing the mill levy," he said.

The city plans to use $500,000 of the receipts for storm sewers. The balance will be used to finance capital improvements in city department operations.

Following is the table — for purchases through $10 — issued by the state tax commissioner for use by merchants in determining the amount of tax to be collected on each purchase:

Paprika Banned In Most Fresh Meat

New York (AP) — Life lost a little more of its spice Wednesday, as the Agriculture Department banned the use of paprika in most fresh meat products.

The federal agency said the spice — a weak-flavored red pepper — can mask "undesirable qualities" from the consumer.

"There is no danger in paprika," a department spokesman said. "We are simply trying to prevent its use as deceptive coloring."

The paprika ban, effective Jan. 15, will apply to all federally inspected fresh meat and fresh meat products, except for two kinds of sausages, Spanish-type chorizo and Italian brand. Not included in the ban would be processed meats such as frankfurters.

Officials said laboratory tests and other information indicated that paprika "can mask undesirable qualities in meat, especially ground meat, by preserving the color characteristics after the meat has begun to spoil."

The ingredient also was said to produce a reddish color in meat fat, causing the product to appear leaner than it really is.

U.S. Begins '70 With 204 Million

Washington (UPI) — The government said Wednesday the United States begins the New Year with a population of 204,334,344 — a gain of 2,067,000 during 1969.

The census Bureau, part of the Commerce Department, reported the net gain in 1969 was the result of about 3,608,000 births, 1,946,000 deaths and 405,000 immigrants.

The increase in 1968, the bureau said, was 2,022,000. In 1967, it was 2,133,000.

Income Level Linked To Special Issue Votes

. . . STUDY SHOWS DEFINITE PATTERN IN LINCOLN DURING 60'S

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of three articles on voting patterns shown on special issues.)

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

When Lincolnites voted on community issues during the sixties, the voting pattern that emerged could be described as "a tale of three cities."

A study by Tom Carroll, a consultant in public relations and association management, of the outcome of ten selected issues — five winners and five losers — showed that one-third of the 27 neighborhood areas tended to vote rather consistently against the issues presented, one-third could be relied upon to vote favorably most of the time and the remaining third had a tendency to swing between the two.

The neighborhoods — consisting of voting precincts in an area based roughly on elementary school district lines — were ranked according to the median family income level (1960 census figures).

Cross Section

Carroll, who has managed a number of campaigns on issues, said the 10 issues were selected as representing a cross section of all issues during the sixties.

These issues are parks (1960), fluoridation (1961), urban renewal (1962), tax ceiling, (1966), and minimum standards housing code (1967) — all which lost — and juvenile court (1960), County-City Building (1965), public housing (1966), tax ceiling increase (1968), and fluoridation (1968) — all which passed.

Carroll said those neighborhoods in the upper third income category voted "yes" on issues a majority of the time. And one neighborhood — Maude Rousseau — voted "yes" on all ten issues.

Only three of the issues — urban renewal, tax ceiling in 1966 and the housing code — failed to get a majority vote from the nine neighborhood area.

At the other extreme, the nine neighborhoods in the lower third by income voted negatively in all but four precincts a majority of the time.

"The nine middle income neighborhoods divided almost equally between those opposed in a majority of instances and those favorable," he noted.

Based upon an analysis of the voting patterns in the city, Carroll concludes that a family's income level is a key factor influencing the tendency for one to vote "yes" on an issue.

"The greater the income level, the greater will be the tendency of one to vote 'yes' on an issue," he theorized, adding that there are other factors which will also influence how one votes.

Carroll pointed out that educational attainment and income were closely related in the 1960 census.

"But I feel that the income level is the more influential of the two factors," he said.

Explaining his theory, Carroll said that persons in the upper income bracket "tend to place confidence in the community leadership," which he refers to as "the establishment."

He theorized that as income rises, there is more of a tendency to respond favorably to the establishment. Carroll said that the upper income persons will usually go along with what is being proposed unless they feel they will be adversely affected by the issue.

Feeling Of Distrust

He said that the negative vote in the lower income neighborhoods probably indicates a feeling of distrust of the community leadership.

"They often respond negatively when the ideas are suggested by the power structure," he said.

Carroll said these neighborhoods have voted against issues "designed to be of benefit to them (the people in the neighborhoods)."

He contended that one reason for this "no" vote is that "we have not learned how to communicate with them (the lower income people) to explain the issues."

Carroll said the traditional means for explaining an issue, such as newspaper articles and publicity literature, have little value in reaching the lower income persons.

"The 'grapevine' is their chief means of communication," he said. "And we (issue promoters) have to learn how to use the 'grapevine'."

Independent Thinkers

Carroll said those in the middle income bracket are often independent thinkers who are not affected one way or another by what the community leadership wants.

The middle income "neither endorse what the establishment proposes nor do they reject ideas," he said.

Carroll described these people as being "more protective against change and additional public expenditures" than are those in the upper income range.

Almost Anywhere

He said the middle income person can be found almost anywhere in the city.

"This attitude, though, shows up in those neighborhoods predominantly middle income," Carroll said.

Agnew Visits Vietnam For First Time

Saigon (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew arrived in Saigon Thursday from Manila for a meeting with President Nguyen Van Thieu and a New Year's Day visit with American troops.

It was Agnew's first visit to this Southeast Asian nation, and he interrupted his 10-nation Asian tour to make it.

The trip was not unexpected, since Agnew had said all along he would like to squeeze in a visit to U.S. troops in South Vietnam.

Agnew was met at the airport by South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam, U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. William B. Rosson, deputy U.S. commander in Vietnam, filling in for Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the commander, who has pneumonia.

A little Vietnamese girl presented Agnew the traditional welcoming flowers.

Agnew made no statement on arrival. He immediately boarded a helicopter for the 10-minute flight that took him to Independence Palace to meet with Thieu.

Some time during a busy schedule, Agnew also is expected to leave Saigon to visit some U.S. troops in the field. He also is to call on Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, who is in an Army hospital in Saigon recovering from pneumonia.

It was not known how long Agnew would be in South Vietnam. He is due Friday in Taipei, the Chinese Nationalist capital, on Formosa.

Wild Scene Follows Voting

©The New York Times

By TERENCE SMITH

Saigon — After two days of boisterous debate, a narrow majority of the house of representatives decided Wednesday that three of its members had engaged in pro-Communist activities.

One of the three, Tran Ngoc Chau, a former army colonel and province chief, was found to have maintained a "liaison with the enemy."

This referred to his association with his younger brother, who was convicted by a military court last summer as a North Vietnamese spy and sentenced to 20 years imprisonment.

The final vote on a special committee investigation of the three produced a wild scene in the house. Members stamped their feet, pounded their desks and tossed papers in the air, either in protest or support of the motion.

About 50 opposition representatives stomped out of the hall and held an impromptu news conference in the lobby in which they denounced the vote as "illegal and unconstitutional." A woman member of the opposition tried to draw a pistol from her briefcase during the debate, but was restrained by a colleague.

The vote constituted a limited victory for President Nguyen Van Thieu, who had originally charged the three members with Communist affiliations and asked the house to strip them of their immunity. Under the South Vietnamese constitution, the national assemblymen enjoy nearly total immunity from prosecution unless they are impeached by a three fourths absolute majority of their respective house.

Part Of Thieu Effort

The president's accusations against the three were seen by observers here as part of a broader effort by Thieu to subdue both houses of the assembly and silence his domestic political opposition.

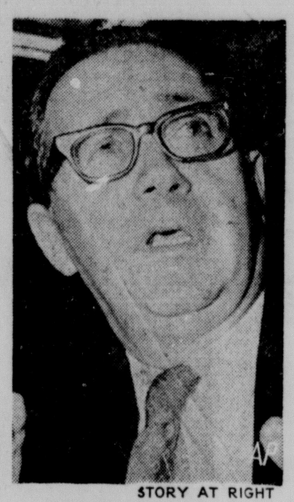

It became obvious shortly after the debate began Tuesday, however, that the government would never be able to muster even the two thirds majority necessary to consider a motion of impeachment, much less the three quarters required for passage.

As a result, the narrow, pro-government majority settled for a motion concurring with the findings of the special investigating committee. This motion leaves the members' immunity intact.

In addition to Chau, the house concluded that Hoang Ho, a former deputy minister of education whose name came up recently at an espionage trial, had had "relations with Communist agents," and Pham The Truc, a young opposition deputy who had engaged in "activities profitable to the Communists and against the regime of the republic."

Truc, 29, called last May in Tokyo for a coalition government and demanded the withdrawal of all American troops.

He is living in self-imposed exile in Tokyo.

STORY AT RIGHT

DR. JEAN MAYER . . . Nixon's hunger adviser.

Nixon Hunger Adviser Has A Weight Problem

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH

Washington (AP) — Dr. Jean Mayer, the White House adviser on nutrition, says he practices what he preaches but is the first to acknowledge that he's the only one in his family who has a weight problem.

But this is minor compared to some problems that Mayer has faced in his 49 years.

He's been a prisoner-of-war and escaped. He successfully wooed his American bride while on North Atlantic convoy duty. And, most recently, took on the task of finding answers for President Nixon on how to feed America's poor and keep everyone healthy.

A Native Of Paris

Mayer, a native Parisian now a naturalized U.S. citizen, is professor of nutrition at Harvard University as well as consultant to Nixon. Early in December he put together a White House conference on food, nutrition and health and managed to mix the professional-intellectual world with that of the middle class, the very poor and militant ethnic groups.

Not everyone is charmed by Mayer, (pronounced My Air), and some think that he has become a part of the establishment. John Kramer, who was handpicked by Mayer to serve as executive director of the National Council on Hunger and Malnuturition, had this to say about him:

"He's the classic example of a man swallowed by an institution. I call him Dr. Mayer and Mr. Hyde. He used to be a gadfly in the previous administration. Now that he's on the inside, he tries to gag dissent. Procedurally he's an arrogant authoritarian."

Mayer doesn't mince words. Asked about monosodium glutamate in baby foods, Mayer fired back, "I'd take the damn stuff out."

Or talking about the cost of feeding the hungry he says:

"We are spending about $4 billion to keep our agricultural production down, yet we have trouble finding a few billion dollars to feed the hungry.'"

'Soundest Investment'

Feeding the hungry properly, Mayer says, "is the soundest investment this country can make. We have nothing like Biafra but we do have a lot of people who are not growing properly, prematurity and children born with all sorts of handicaps."

Mayer's interest in welfare of others comes naturally. His great-grandfather was an illiterate French woodcutter who gave his 12-year-old son Myrtil five francs and sent him to the valley below to seek his fortune.

Mytril succeeded and became associated with liberal causes during the Napoleonic era, founding hospitals, clinics, sanitariums and fighting for social reform.

Mayer's father, the late Dr. Andre Mayer, was an internationally known physiologist and humanitarian. He played major roles in the League of Nations and the United Nations in forming groups to help feed the world's starving.

As to his weight problem, Mayer is 5 foot 7½ and weighs 166 pounds — 14 pounds more than when he came to Washington about six months ago.

Mortgage Interest Boost Denounced

Washington (UPI) — Chairman Wright Patman of the House Banking Committee said Wednesday the one per cent increase in government-insured home loans was the "height of irresponsibility" and will prevent middle-income persons from buying houses.

At the same time, AFL-CIO President George Meany said, "This inflationaryy rise in mortgage rates is another serious blow to home buyers and residential construction."

Both the Veterans Administration and the Federal Housing Administration announced Tuesday they were raising their interest rates from 7.5 to 8.5%. The move, they said, was necessary to make more money available for home loans.

An FHA spokesman said the new rates would mean that on a 30-year loan on a $25,000 home, $69,210 would be paid in principal and interest. At the old rate the amount was $63,000.

Patman said the increase appeared to be "a calculated effort of the Nixon administration to close out low income and moderate income housing programs through round after round of interest rate increases."

"The administration should be devoting its energy to rolling back interest rates and not shopping around for places to announce new increases," the Texas Democrat said.

Meany, in a statement, said during 1969 "the highest level of interest rates in 100 years has boosted housing costs, priced a growing percentage of families out of the market for homes and depressed home building."

Battle Deaths Pass 40,000

Saigon (AP) — American battlefield deaths in nearly a decade of fighting in the Vietnam war passed the 40,000 mark Thursday, sources said.

The sources declined to disclose the specific number, saying an official casualty summary would be released later.

Reds Kill 5 Americans

Saigon (AP) — North Vietnamese troops killed five Americans and wounded three others with a mortar and small arms attack that shattered the New Year's truce at 4 a.m. Thursday, the U.S. Command announced.

They were the first U.S. battle casualties of 1970.

The attack on an Americal Division unit nine miles northwest of Tam Ky was one of 52 enemy-initiated incidents recorded by the allied commands at the halfway mark of their 24-hour cease-fire.

Thirty of the incidents caused casualties on one side or the other, and the U.S. Command said 400 of the enemy died during the period that began at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Three of the enemy were reported killed in the Tam Ky attack.

South Vietnamese headquarters said two others were slain in a pre-dawn assault by Viet Cong guerrillas on a village near Hoai Nhon, about 300 miles north of Saigon, the only other significant incident since midnight.

Filipino President Marcos To Give Wealth To People

Manila (UPI) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos, said by his political opponents to be one of Asia's richest men, renounced wordly goods Wednesday and said he would devote his wealth to the well-being of the Filipino people.

Marcos, 52, made the announcement one day after his inauguration for a second term as chief executive.

He said he would transfer all his material possessions — after provision for the education of his three children—to a "Ferdinand E. Marcos Foundation" for the promotion of education, science, technology and the arts.

The president was listed among the top 100 taxpayers in the Philippines for the first time in 1968. He declared an income of $160,831 dollars at that time.

However, his political opponents have claimed Marcos is worth $125 million and is one of the richest men in Asia.

Marcos, a highly successful lawyer before entering politics, has a salary of $15,000 as president.

Texan Gives Up Gift Flight

Copenhagen (UPI) — Texas millionaire H. Ross Perot admitted defeat Wednesday in his attempt to get 25 tons of Christmas gifts for American prisoners of war in North Vietnam to Moscow by Hanoi's midnight deadline.

The North Vietnamese government had promised that 1,400 parcels would be distributed among Americans held in its prison camps if Perot could get the planeload of gifts to Moscow by that time.

But the Soviet government has not given Perot permission to land the plane on Soviet territory.

Maps Show 'Three Cities' Pattern Of Voting On Local Issues

The three maps above demonstrate what public relations consultant Tom Carroll calls a three cities' pattern of voting on local issues. Carroll's analysis shows that in the areas of the city which rank in the lowest third for average family income (map at left) all but four precincts voted against at least half of the ten issues studied. In the areas having the middle third of family income (center map), about half voted for at least half of the issues and about half for fewer than half. In upper income areas, all precincts voted yes on more than half of the issues. (Story on Page 1.)

Court Clarifies City Sales Tax

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Circumstances under which Lincoln's one-half per cent city sales tax may be collected beginning Thursday were clarified Wednesday with a court ruling handed down by Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele.

In an action brought by the City of Lincoln to test the validity of a section of the Local Option Revenue Act (LB504) passed by the 1969 Legislature, Judge Scheele declared the section and two rules set up under that section by the tax commissioner unconstitutional, void and unenforceable.

Under the court's order, retailers maintaining a single place of business within Lincoln will not be required to collect a sales tax on transactions consummated outside the city.

Not Taxed

For example, a milk truck deliveryman for a Lincoln firm would not be required to charge a city sales tax on goods sold on his route outside the city limits.

Judge Scheele declared Section 9 of LB504 unconstitutional because it "unlawfully delegates to the tax commissioner authority to determine situs of sale" and constitutes an "unreasonable and improper classification."

The court further declared that in reference to motor vehicles the county treasurer would not be required to collect the tax unless the owner of the vehicle being purchased intends to use it within the city.

Wouldn't Pay

For example, a person living outside the City of Lincoln who buys an auto in Lincoln and takes it to his home without intending to use it in Lincoln, would not have to pay Lincoln's tax.

Judge Scheele held that the tax on a motor vehicle should be paid to the treasurer of the county where the vehicle is registered if the vehicle is registered and used within an incorporated municipality having adopted an ordinance imposing a sales-use tax under provisions of the Local Option Revenue Act.

For example, a Lincoln resident who purchases a vehicle in Sarpy County must pay the city sales tax on the vehicle when he registers it in the Lincoln city limits of Lancaster County.

Only Use Tax

The city had contended that a sales tax, according to the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967, cannot be imposed upon motor vehicles in Nebraska, but only a use tax, and that under provisions of the Local Option Revenue Act a local use tax must be imposed on motor vehicles rather than a local sales tax.

For this reason, the city had asked the court to find that a local use tax must be imposed upon motor vehicles in Nebraska at the place where the vehicle is registered if that municipality where the vehicle is registered has elected to impose a use tax according to provisions of the Local Option Revenue Act.

The State Tax Commissioner's office Wednesday announced that interim rules and regulations replacing the two regulations declared unconstitutional by the court are being drafted and will be available Friday.

Pending Hearing

According to the tax commissioner, the interim rules and regulations will be effective pending a public hearing set for 10 a.m., Jan. 13.

Tax Commissioner Murrell McNeil said that all treasurers other than those of Lancaster and Douglas counties have been instructed not to collect the Local Option City Sales Tax on motor vehicles.

He further stated that the court's ruling involves only one section of the law and two tax commissioner's rules related to that section and does not prohibit implementation of the Local Option Revenue Act on Jan. 1.

Milne Added To State's '69 Traffic Deaths

The delayed report of a November traffic death boosted Nebraska's total for the year to 421 Wednesday.

Accident Records Bureau Director Tom Ryan reported Wednesday the addition to the year's list of the name of Fred Milne, 84, of Brunswick.

Milne died Nov. 21 of injuries suffered in a Nov. 7 accident 16 miles north of Neligh on Nebraska 14. The car which Milne was driving crashed into the rear end of a tractor corn-picker operated by Merle Filkins, 58, of Brunswick.

Milne's death puts the record November highway toll this year at 56. The previous high was 46 in November of 1962.

The all-time high for any month in Nebraska history is 57 deaths, recorded in August of 1964 and again in August of 1965.

The 421 total for the year 1969, although subject to being increased by late or delayed death reports, falls well short of the 452 total of 1968.

$12,353,306 Army Contract Given G.I. Ammo Plant

Grand Island (AP) — Word was received from Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb., Wednesday that the Army has awarded a $12,353,306 contract to Mason and Hanger-Silas Mason Co., Inc., operator of the Cornhusker Army Ammunition Plant in Grand Island.

Martin said the contract is for loading, assembly and packing of heavy bombs and ammunition.

Resentment Is Voiced Against Property Tax Valuation Hike

Elm Creek (AP) — Resentment against property tax valuation hikes was voiced here in a meeting of the three-week-old Committee For Action on Rural Taxation (CART).

About 125 farmers, businessmen and property owners attended.

Some disgruntled taxpayers vented their fire on State Sen. Leslie Robinson of Kearney and two members of the Buffalo County Board, Virgil Pemberton and Dale Wright.

Robinson, in reply to questions from the audience, said the property tax problem can no longer be blamed on the state, since Nebraska is no longer in the property tax business.

Referring to state and local expenditures for education, he agreed with some members of the audience that any attack on education was commensurate with an attack on motherhood. But he said education is more than adequately represented by lobbyists in the state Legislature.

Pemberton was asked at one point if he thought his salary was adequate. His reply: "I'm not being paid near what I'm worth."

Jack Carey, Kearney, general chairman of CART, said the organization intends to pursue redress of the tax situation through legal and legislative action.

Backhaus, a 1965 Omaha Westside High School graduate, entered active service with the Marines after graduation last spring from Wayne State College.

He is survived by his parents, his wife, a brother and sister and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Peterson of Lincoln.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

One might call the decade now ending almost anything that comes to mind but it definitely was not tranquil. It is possible that the 1960's were the most traumatic years of our nation's comparatively brief history, marked by tremendous sociological upheavals.

This decade saw the assassination of a president, of a candidate for the office and of two leading civil rights advocates. It was probably civil rights that occupied the dominant place in the past 10 years.

It was the civil rights movement which set many cities aflame and which stirred in people thoughts about the inequality of man on many fronts. The past 10 years have set in motion forces of change that will never be silenced short of major achievements.

It was a period in which young people came to the fore, attacking the established ways of doing things and the moral values which underline our society. The generation gap reached its fruition during this period of time.

Of course, the war in Vietnam became an issue of magnitude, toppling former President Lyndon B. Johnson and contributing to the overall unrest which haunted us at every turn. While we landed a man on the moon and the first heart transplant took place in the 1960's, challenge remained far greater than achievement.

The economy has yet to recover from the sixties, inflation continuing this very moment and interest rates posing a major threat to the home-building industry. Perhaps least expected of all by way of accomplishment has been a turn for the better on the international scene in the past year.

A new policy has been inaugurated in Vietnam, giving hope, at least, of a final settlement of this conflict. The U.S. has made new overtures to Red China and the U.S. and Russia have advanced in the Helsinki disarmament talks.

The past 10 years have been a time of awakening, a time of realization, a time of understanding. The 1970's loom ahead, full of challenge and full of opportunity for the realization of the true destiny of the human race.

The more one does, the more there seems left to do and that is surely the situation as it exists at this crossroads of time. There is an urgent need as we enter the seventies for all men to recognize the essential ingredients of human dignity and to live for the fulfillment of man rather than some secondary ideology or objective.

What we have to concentrate on is man himself — whether he has enough to eat and sufficient means to clothe and house himself and his family. Is every man given the opportunity to develop to the full extent of his potential?

He is not when he is born in poor health and raised in poverty. He is not given much opportunity when crime and immorality are the only examples that are set for him and when our educational system makes an outcast of him.

And all of society faces the threat of pollution of our air and water and the desecration of our natural resources. It is fundamental, in the coming decade, that we launch a counter-offensive to these developments.

★

The past decade cannot be termed a loss, certainly, but it has shown us that many, many things remain to be accomplished. If every citizen would consider these accomplishments to be at least a part of his own personal responsibility, the coming decade would be outstanding.

But men cannot sit on the sidelines and feather their own little nests if all of humanity is to make progress. One small cancer can destroy an entire body and the same thing is true in society as a whole.

It takes only pockets of indifference here and there to create conditions of stagnation or decay. Each of us has a part of this world in which we live and each of us has a contribution to be made to humanity.

If there is anything to be resolved as we start a new year and a new decade, it should be for the practice of intellectual integrity and the pursuit of true dignity for all men. The resources for greatness are not wanting, but the will must be provided.

Arab Summit Meeting

'Self-Defense' Act Tested

An Omaha businessman was apparently within the law Sunday night when he shot and killed a man whom he thought had broken into his warehouse.

The Douglas County Attorney's office said it will not file charges against the businessman because the shooting was justified under the state's new self-defense act, which permits persons to use force while protecting their property.

As the incident was reported, the warehouse owner and his wife were driving by the warehouse and saw a broken window near the loading dock and the shadow of a person inside. They left the scene to call authorities and upon returning, saw a man standing on the dock near the window, standing is if he had just climbed out of the window.

The businessman warned the apparent intruder that he had a gun and that police were on the way. He then fired two warning shots as the man was running and then fired directly at him. The man collapsed and was pronounced dead upon arrival at a local hospital. Police investigation showed later that the intruder's pockets did contain property from the warehouse.

It is pointless to belabor this particular incident now, aside from wondering whether the businessman would have used his gun had there not been the new law on the books.

We imagine there will be other incidents of such a borderline nature — and many others with less provocation involved — in which a person may take a life under the color of the new law; a law which was called "an invitation to murder" by Gov. Tiemann and, on the other hand, one which State Sen. Terry Carpenter termed "the greatest" passed by the last session of the Legislature.

From our point of view, the governor is the more farsighted in perceiving the potential of this legislation. It will help to destroy the concept of letting the punishment fit the crime.

Pity Today's Home-Buyer

You can't really condemn the government for increasing the interest rate on FHA mortgages but you have to feel sorry for the home-buyers who take advantage of the situation. The rate on FHA insured mortgages goes from 7.5 to 8.5 per cent. Along with "discount points," the effective rate is about 9 per cent.

News reports have pointed out that this change means an additional cost of $6,210 in buying a $25,000 home on a 30-year mortgage. Thus, the higher rate may make it possible for some people at least to get a loan but only at a large financial loss.

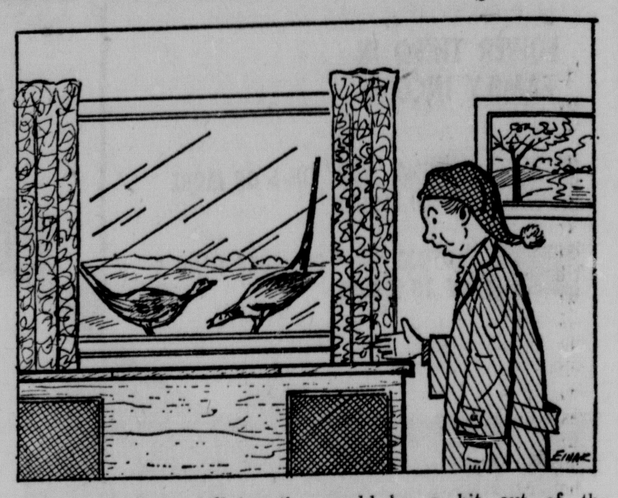

The economists who advocate high interest rates as a tool against inflation ought to have their heads examined. To date, the biggest thing high interest rates have done is put more money into the pockets of rich investors. Additionally, it has increased the cost of living for moderate and low-income families who rely heavily upon credit for obtaining the things they need.

It may be possible to argue that high rates discourage inflation but if they do, it is at a terrible price. The best way to fight inflation would be through voluntary restraints throughout the economy but this, unfortunately, will not work. Labor unions want big pay hikes, corporations want big profits and the average person won't stop spending long enough to let things cool off.

But the government can economize and it could establish effective credit requirements which would curtail private spending. It would be far better in housing, for instance, to require a little greater down-payment than to jack the interest rates up to an exorbitant high. Such high rates are hurting a lot more than they are helping.

Farewell to the old year . . . the last page has been written and the record now stands. There are thoughts of the past year, both happy and sad, but it is a useless endeavor to dwell upon those hours that were not at best happy. We can only hope that life's mighty scale will be balanced when the curtain has come down on our last year here on earth.

Perhaps that is why a new year is always an occasion for merriment for it is ever hopeful and cheerful, somehow revealing a glow as if a guiding light is in the shadows.

The calloused heart is cleansed and all thoughts of pettiness are left behind. Within the bargaining mind, a miracle seems to happen when the new year begins. Perhaps we would do well to think as a child as we stand on the threshold of 1970. They think not of what is past, nor what is to come. They live and enjoy the present time. Few of us do this. Maybe that is why we all remember childhood as being such a delightful time of our lives.

The lazy smoke from the neighbor's chimney-top ties ribbons to the sky as I look out across the snow-covered field this winter day. The wind is whispering a song as it moves through the empty tree-tops . . . tree-tops like icy fingers scratching at the bleak winter sky as if they were trying to pull the cloud cover away so the sun could shine.

But the sun will not shine today. Winter has pushed the sunshine off the lawn, off the lane and off the fields. It holds the reins now and marks each day as it wishes. Winter locks its snow-covered arms with the long shadows of the trees and collects ice crystals to scatter over the landscape while we sleep. It blows its chill breath whenever it wills, it crackles the ice on the streams and sends the sparrows to roost early. It can be ruthless or mild but more often it is a bully as it walks the land.

But everything must have its day. One day spring will shrink it back to size. The sun will come back to the northern skies and winter will become meek and abiding, so let it have its day. It has been a whole year since we have known ice and snow.

I have been watching the bird feeder closely to see if I will entice any fine feathered friends to my window. The roof of the feeder is covered with a two-inch layer of snow. Against the redwood, it makes it look like a Swiss chalet.

The only visitor I have seen thus far was a sparrow, just as I guessed it would be. However, I did see two rooster pheasants stepping gingerly across our lane, within a few feet of the feeder. Now, wouldn't my eyes pop right out of my head, I thought, if some early morning I walked by the window and saw two rooster pheasants perched on the bird feeder pecking milo. Of course this would be a bit out of the ordinary since the feeder is of a standard size and could not cater to the large birds. I would have to be dreaming or aroused from a sound sleep early in the morning to see any such picture unfold before my eyes.

Should I ever see such a thing I would turn right around and go back to bed for another twenty four hours.

"One of these days the Angus calves are going to market," The Farmer said as they filed down the black path they have made through the snow. Until the snow covers the feed in the fields too deeply, they will continue to eat and grow fat but they are large enough they can be sent to the sale barn any time.

The cattle certainly cannot hide themselves now that snow is on the ground. They stand out like black polka dots against a background of white. They are rather picturesque as they graze over the rolling hills.

But when the time comes when The Farmer has to haul chopped alfalfa to the bunks for them, they are not so picturesque. It is at that time they are going to market.

We Could Abolish New Year's Eve

NEW YORK — As most Americans with highly-tuned nervous systems are aware, Christmas and New Year's Eve run too close together. It is a matter of the ridiculous falling flat on the heels of the sublime, and leads to common colds, suicidal depression, housemaid's knee and a variety of traffic disorders.

Nobody can possibly be that happy for a week without breaking out in fever blisters or breaking down in tears. Which happens to almost everyone by January 1.

I am not in favor for a moment of changing the date of Christmas because, not only is it sacred to the Christian world, it is vitally important to merchants who otherwise couldn't get away to Miami Beach — which in turn would hurt the hotel economy and possibly shut down Tropical Park.

New Year's Eve, however, could quite easily and beneficially be pushed off to some pleasanter time like, say, June 5th (a Friday, by the way), without offending anybody. Of course, if New Year's Eve were celebrated on June 5th, it would lose its association with New Year's Day, but that is just as well since New Year's Eve, as it now stands, bears no relationship to New Year's Day, anyway. New Year's Day is a period for reflection, planning ahead and even prayer — and very few people these days have the stamina to reflect, plan or pray after a night like New Year's Eve!

Now that I think of it, possibly it is unfair to burden June with New Year's Eve, that night of fearsomely mandatory clutching after happiness. What did June, a pretty, flowery month, do to deserve it? Maybe it's best to abolish New Year's Eve altogether. As far as can be ascertained (from surveys of rich men, poor men, Indian chiefs and residents at a nearby hospital), no one would really miss the night except kids under 16 and Guy Lombardo. And kids under 16 should be in bed on New Year's Eve — ask the insurance companies; while Guy Lombardo is above our fretting about.

Through the years of investigating the nation's anti-New Year's Eve sentiments, I've concluded that for most people it is a night of either budget-breaking boredom or outright disgust.

Virtually everyone says, "I dread going out tonight." But they do it anyway, because they dread being home alone even more.

Many folks give small parties at their apartments or houses, which is a good way to stay out of trouble — and land in the poorhouse. Guests drink so much, and eat so much, and drop so much on the carpets.

☆ ☆ ☆

Of course, some New Year's Eves are better than others. Writer Ralph Schoenstein recalls fondly a New Year's Eve he spent in the army in Yokohama. "It was my first New Year's Eve without something to kiss. I was sitting alone in the barracks, sipping a Dr. Pepper and folding my underwear. It really was quite peaceful and nice. But then a Japanese girl on the radio said '. . . To the music of Guy Rombardo' . . . "and the memories came back to haunt Ralph.

"Suddenly I missed it all," he said. "I missed the noise and the big white ball falling in Times Square while ten thousand people got their pockets picked.

"I missed the carefree destruction, the gay collisions, and the warm embraces with the folks you loathe."

Once the war was over, he came back and had it all again. And again was disillusioned, especially on the morning of January 1, when he should have started the New Year right — and instead was upset "as the children tip-toed in with little feet that boom like cannons."

Let's abolish New Year's Eve now. Before the man puts on the dunce's hat, and the girl in the corner starts to cry, and the boy next door smashes his car into somebody's favorite maple tree. It's never too late to watch the Late Show instead.

President Receives His 'Passing' Grade

NEW YORK — It's time for the end-of-the-year report card, and the President and his men have reviewed his homework since January and found it good. Almost "cum laude" quality, you might say.

The Nixon team is rushing things. What he REALLY has earned so far is an "incomplete." There are a lot of assignments left to finish.

But his term paper on Welfare was so outstanding, and his Draft Lottery program so much better than anything else up to now, most President-watchers are willing to give him at least a passing grade.

This might produce an outcry or two from the White House, where presidential aides last week presented a long list of the good things Mr. Nixon has accomplished since he started hanging his hat in the big house on Pennsylvania Avenue.

They also conceded some failures. That list was shorter.

The President, most of all, is proud of the way the mood of the country has changed since he took the oath, quietly, and asked everybody else to lower their voices, too.

Now, he thinks, people are "less strident." The rioters and loud-mouths, mostly young, are a minority, he says.

The middle-aged voters, the "silent majority," are flooding his desk with wires and letters of approval, which make scarcely a sound as they fall.

☆ ☆ ☆

Another achievement is his federal reform program, a sort of streamlining plan to make the government put its money where its mouth is. By not promising too much, the President hopes to dispel the national mood of disenchantment and skepticism he says he inherited from the previous administration.

He's also pleased with his victories in the ABM fight (where he squeaked by with a single vote), the surtax extension, draft reform, and the way the country is backing his policies in Vietnam (a war nobody can blame him for in the first place).

He admits defeat on Judge Haynsworth's Supreme Court nomination. Whether he came out on top in the tax reform squabble is still in some doubt.

But he also claims there is good news ahead in his war against inflation. Perhaps there is—ahead—but most housewives are struggling harder with their budgets than Mr. Nixon is with his, which is quite a struggle, indeed.

A sizable bunch of voters—the old, sick, and poor—wonder why there is $10 billion for the ABM and another $70 million for the SST (not to mention a great deal else for the Pentagon) but no room for $20 billion for—you guessed it—the old, the sick and the poor.

Mr. Nixon's go-slow approach to integration and his plan to extend voting rights provisions made him some friends and it made him some enemies. And the grade in this one depends on whose grade counts.

His spokesmen don't come right out and say so, but they seem to feel he could have accomplished a lot more if the Democrat majority had given him the same "working relationship" Sam Rayburn and Lyndon Johnson gave President Eisenhower.

But then, if memory serves, a lot of people were complaining at the time about Mr. Eisenhower's ineffectiveness, too.

However . . . Mr. Nixon has signed up for quite a few subjects in the new year: organized crime, law and order, hunger, states rights, revenue sharing and inflation.

It's a heavy program.

Septuagenarians Occupy Posts Of Importance; McCormack Remains Third In Presidency Line

WASHINGTON — As the nation today steps into the 1970s, it is still guided, in part, by men with one foot in the 1800s. They are the septuagenarians, who cling tenaciously to their towers of power long after retirement age.

They are found in Congress, the courts and, more rarely, the federal agencies, helping to shape the future through a rear-view mirror. They are occupied more with dreams of the past than visions of the future.

The septuagenarians who remain in power, in most cases, stepped in when the country needed them. The question is whether they will step out now. As another decade recedes into history, these men of a bygone era should hand over the leadership to men of lesser years but keener minds.

Nowhere is the tired-blood gap more visible than in the council of elders who run Congress. On Capitol Hill, senility is respected and infirmity revered. No less than 15 Senate and House committee chairman were born before the turn of the century. Six are over 75; two have passed the 80-year mark.

The most powerful septuagenarian is Speaker John McCormack, 78, a New Deal Democrat who should have departed at least with the Fair Deal.

The venerable McCormack usually has been found battling for the public interest. But now he is a pallid shell of his earlier self — a frail, gaunt beanpole of a man.

On November 22, 1963, McCormack was dining with his cronies in the House restaurant. An aide rushed in with the news of John F. Kennedy's assassination and with an Associated Press report that Lyndon Johnson had been wounded.

For a few breathless, heart-stopping moments, John McCormack thought he was president of the United States. The immensity of it overcame him, and he went into momentary shock. He tried to stand but became dizzy, reeled, then fell back and sat trembling.

But if the false AP report jolted the old man, it caused sheer panic for a few big officials who, for an anguished moment, thought President McCormack was in charge of the government. Today, he is six years older and still third in the line of presidential succession.

"Old Jawn," as his colleagues fondly call him, is losing his grasp of the issues of the 1970s. In the cloakrooms, they whisper of his "lack of awareness" and "seeming indifference."

And his greatest concern in this age of Vietnam and pollution and moonwalks is over the remodeling of the west front of the Capitol Building.

When Congress reconvenes, John McCormack can be found shuffling through the corridors of Congress, brushing back his yellowing white hair, cigar stuck in his cheek, wrinkled notes poking from every pocket in his depression-style, pinstripe suit — an 1891 Capricorn making decisions for the Age of Aquarius.

Today is the birthday of another powerful septuagenarian. J. Edgar Hoover, whose bulldog demeanor has made him the personification of law and order, is a rugged 75. For almost 46 years, since he took command of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at age 29, he has ruled autocratically as the nation's top cop.

In 1924, the Bureau was loaded with drunks, hacks, misfits and courthouse hangers-on. Almost overnight, he transformed it into the most respected and effective crime-fighting outfit in the world — a close-knit, scandal-free organization with a high espirit de corps.

But in 1970, Hoover is also an anachronism. The world has changed since his gang-busting days of the 1930s, when his men shot it out with the likes of John Dillinger and Baby Face Nelson. J. Edgar, however, has not changed. He is still a law-and-order fundamentalist.

Through the years, Hoover has carefully created the image of a tough lawman until he has become an inviolable institution. To most Americans, he is a man of bedrock integrity and constant action, eternally prepared to battle criminals and communists. He is Mr. FBI.

He has little disposition to give up the post he has occupied for nearly half a century.

At this dawning of a new decade, McCormack, Hoover and the other septuagenarians at the pinnacle of power could do their country no greater service than to cease their service.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY

Wife Overprotected Her Sister

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. — "For some four decades my wife has been overly concerned about her younger sister. She promised her dying mother she'd look out for Helen and took the promise so seriously she worked to give her a college education, saw her through three bum marriages, and wept when she became an alcoholic. Thank God she died six months ago of liver cirrhosis. Unfortunately, my wife was executor of her messed-up estate and encountered so much trouble she suffered a stroke last week and now lies helpless in the hospital. Isn't it crazy for a person to have so much concern for a sister?"

A. — It's admirable to be considerate of family members, but one shouldn't wet-nurse adults who refuse to face up to personal responsibilities. Your story points up the need for folks not to feel chained to deathbed promises, and not to be so overly conscientious in caring for others as to imperil their own independence and happiness.

Q. — "My wife refuses to get dentures even though she has only 10 teeth left — just barely enough to chew with. What makes it so bad is that the front ones are gone, top and bottom, with the space balanced by snags at each side that look like walrus tusks. She says that at 72 she doesn't care how she looks or what people think, and has better uses for the $400 a dentist quoted her for new dentures. What do you say?"

A. — As we grow older we should be willing to spend a little time and money making ourselves reasonably attractive — not only for the benefit of others but to sustain our self-respect and enhance the public image of age. Check with other dentists — you can surely find one who will quote a lower figure. Be firm and insist that she have this work done.

Q. — "I'm sure growing old age can be miserable. But should old people whine about it? Dad, 81, lives alone and the doctor says he's doing okay. He has enough money, but no close friends and nothing to do but read and watch TV. The past five years he's become a chronic complainer — yaks about his arthritis, hearing, digestion, the kids out front, the price of food, and that we don't pay enough attention. When I ask him to please talk about pleasant things or shut up he says I'm inconsiderate."

A. — Maybe you are inconsiderate. Old folks need a sympathetic ear, and children should be willing to listen. Check and see if there's a visitors' bureau which may be able to send visitors to call on him. Drive him to senior citizen clubs occasionally. Plan some bus trips for him. Unless you prod him to engage in activities and see new faces he'll drown in his sea of pessimism.

How many bowl games are played in the U.S. each year? —Curious, Lincoln.

ACTION LINE: No fewer than 51 according to an article in the current issue of TV Guide. However, Warren Brown of the NCAA figures that must include all the championship playoffs, all-star and pro bowl games as well as college conference games.

The NCAA sanctions 12 (Tangerine, Pasadena, Liberty, Peach, Gator, Orange, Astro-Blue Bonnet, Cotton, Mineral Waters, Sun, Rose, and Sugar bowls) plus four regional college championship games (Boardwalk, Grantland Rice, Pecan and Camelia).

Among College All-Star Games the NCAA sponsors the Blue Grey, All-American, Shrine East-West, and Muscular Dystrophy games. There are also Shrine North-South, hula and senior bowl games.

The National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics also sponsors some post-season games.

Much controversy exists about the number of post-season games and whether or not a kind of tournament or play-off that would pit the top teams in the country against each other wouldn't be more exciting or more meaningufl than the present bowl system.

Many people also protest the clustering of top bowl games on one day. If you have already done so, you'd better get busy planning which ones you'll watch today!

I'm a confirmed non-fan of instant coffee, but that freeze-dried stuff is pretty good. Coin-operated vending machines are still putting out the same old stuff, though. Are any planning to switch to freeze-dried? —E.S., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Local vending machine companies, for the most part, use fresh grounds to brew a fresh cup of coffee each time. The technique, in use for seven to ten years now, is similar to drip coffee, but water is forced through the grounds which drop from a canister in the top of the machine.

Other machines use instant coffee, particularly where powdered soup is also served, since both operations require the same kind of mechanism.

The freeze-dried coffee, according to local vending officials, cannot be used with accuracy in today's machines since it is not a uniform size. Measurement would be way off since you might get too much of the fine powder or too little coffee if the bigger pieces were coming through.

Some officials also feel that to revert to any kind of instant coffee would be a step backward from the freshly brewed type.

A friend of mine received his induction notice in November for Dec. 1. I would like to know how he can be drafted for December when the November and December draft calls were cancelled. He hadn't had his classification long enough to be in the October call. Also, is it possible for him to join the National Guard since he hasn't taken any oath yet? —Hopeful, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: While the November and December draft calls were cancelled, the October call was spread over those two months. Fewer men than previously were called up in those months, but naturally, some were called.

Once the induction notice leaves the local board's office, said a representative of the Lincoln Board, it is too late to join a reserve or National Guard unit. Though he won't take an oath until he is forwarded for induction, his options are gone once the notice has been mailed to him.

You asked if the notice was mailed early so that he could not get in the lottery. No one has been called up yet under the lottery system and the calls for December were made simply to meet the quota requirements of the local board for that month. No relationship at all to the lottery.

I understand that color coding of envelopes at the Post Office is illegal. True? —Wondering, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: The Post Office, according to Customer Relations officer Dan Keleher, controls only the front of the envelope and is interested primarily in the address and postage. However, many companies use some type of coding in their address to indicate which department should receive the mail.

The Post Office itself uses a color code on the edge of the envelope only in areas where there are problems with distribution control and the code can help department officials to determine where the problem is. Such coding devices are not illegal.

I am doing a study on underground newspapers and I was wondering where I can get ahold of some Lncoln student. —B. S., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Try the university for a student, but don't look at us—we're very much above ground!

All my life I heard that the No. 1 Mexican food (along with chili) was tamales. Hot Tamales! Now, in recent months, several restaurants specializing in Mexican food have opened in Lincoln. Each serves several different kinds of food, but no tamales. WHY NOT? —H. F. T. (Hungry for Talames), Lincoln Lincoln

ACTION LINE: The new Mexican specialty restaurants in Lincoln are all fast food places with carry out service. They do not have the facilities for making and storing hot tamales, though one manager said his restaurant will be serving them in another six months.

While most of the newer establishments report tacos to be their number one seller, tamales are available at a couple of the older Mexican food places in Lincoln. Try them at The Taco Hut and the Monterrey Cafe.

Tiemann Cancels Town Hall Meet

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann Wednesday cancelled a town hall meeting scheduled for next Tuesday in Lincoln.

The governor said he thought the meeting was to close to the holidays to draw a crowd.

Two Gunned Down

Louisville, Ky. (UPI) — Two policeman were shot to death and two other officers were wounded when they arrived at the scene of a holdup at a small grocery in the city's west end.

This Week's Health Tip

Here is a health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association:

To save yourself a broken bone this winter, watch where you walk. Remember that ice and hardpacked snow are more dangerous when wet than dry.

Scrape your boots or shoes carefully when entering a building. An accumulation of slush on the sole of a shoe can easily cause you to lose your footing.

Use the handrails on both outside and inside stairs as entrance halls and steps often have a slippery coating of slush tracked in.

If you should slip, try to fall like our Cornhusker football players!!! Relax instead of tensing. Take a forward fall with a rolling motion. If you are flung backward, try to go limp and land with your weight divided between your shoulders, hips and hands.

First 3 Hours Termed Most Dangerous

By Associated Press

If you have a yen to live dangerously, you can do it by driving a motor vehicle early New Year's morning.

The most dangerous travel time is from midnight to 3 a.m. on the first day of the New Year, Director Tom Ryan of the Nebraska Accident Records Bureau suggested Wednesday.

During this period, "nearly every car on the road will be operated by a driver who has been celebrating," he said. "Many will be drunk, others will be intoxicated to a lesser degree, but do have their faculities impaired. It is a dangerous time for all motorists."

For traffic death reporting purposes, the New Year's holiday weekends extends for 102 hours, from 6 p.m. Wednesday through midnight next Sunday.

Last year two persons were killed in traffic mishaps during the holiday period.

Skaters! Ice Is Ready At 3 Locations In City!

Ice skating is now permitted at three locations, the City Park Department announced Wednesday.

Skating is permitted at Bishop Park at 33rd and Prescott, at 14th and Lake Sts. and at Oak Lake. Other areas are expected to be ready soon.

Mrs. Donna Frohardt, family activities supervisoor with the recreation department, said persons are encouraged to use city parks for sledding.

Mrs. Frohardt said sledding permits are still being issued to those who want streets closed for sledding. She said only dead end, circle and "T" streets will be closed, providing 75% of the residents along the street sign petitions supporting the closing.

Cost for a permit, good during the sledding season, is $12.50. The city assumes no liability for injuries.

She also said that the person applying for a permit from the City Park and Recreation Department is responsible for putting up and taking down the barricades each day. Sledding is permitted only between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Mrs. Frohardt said no permits have been issued yet this year. She said only two were issued last year.

The approval of the city traffic engineering division and the police department is necessary on each permit granted.

NU Starts Grain Deterioration Research

Grain deterioration studies on nearly 37 million bushels of grain in outside piles has been started by the Plant Pathology Department of the University of Nebraska.

Cooperating in the study with the University of Nebraska will be the University of Minnesota where a great deal of research has been conducted on grain deterioration.

A variety of molds and temperatures up to 140 degrees in the milo piles have created concern about the quality of the grain, according to industry spokesmen.

NU researchers note that "nobody can tell now just what the mixture might be to mix damaged grain with higher quality grain for feeding purposes at this time."

The sampling program was conducted in cooperation with the Extension Service.

A special committee has been established at the College of Agriculture to issue news releases on the care of grain.

Other questions now being pursued by NU researchers include a check of farm stored grain and the quality of corn still unharvested in parts of Nebraska.

NU Format For Beginning Psychology Undergoes Radical Change

College students who register for beginning courses in any subject have come to expect large, impersonal lecture sessions and mass hour examinations given on an infrequent basis.

But the estimated 800 University of Nebraska students who register for beginning psychology in the coming semester are in for a pleasant suprise. The format has been radically changed.

While only one professor will be teaching the course, the classes will be small, the examinations frequent. He'll be able to teach the 800 with the help of a computer, visual aids, a dozen student assistants and a new approach.

Dr. Donald Jensen, a native of Holdrege, comes to the university from Indiana University where he taught for nine yeears and devised this new teaching method.

What's The Secret?

What's the secret of the different class approach? "I have devised a system of large class instruction which simply attempts to appy the principles of motivation and reward," Dr. Jensen explains

While the classroom situation is changed, so is the testing. "The testing system is the core of it. The testing procedures have been adopted by chemistry, economics and psychology on another(Indiana University) campus. I came back to bring it here," he says.

According to Dr. Jensen, this teaching method is designed to replace the conventional lecture class. Such classes, he says, have these characteristics: inflexible scheduling of presentations and infrequent exams, inappropriate types of questions, no feedback to the student regarding correct answers, and no payoff for learning the right answer of a question missed on an exam.

"One way to say what we're trying to do is set up something with many of the characteristics of small seminars: flexibility, freedom, and frequent performance by students," Dr. Jensen says.

Flexibility

And how is this accomplished? Flexibility in presentations is achieved by "canning" lectures, though no television is used.

What is used are commercially produced films, slides and tape recorders. These apparatus enable the students to see demonstrations and experiments that would be impossible to bring before a large lecture session, Dr. Jensen feels.

But the real virtue of these "canned" lectures is they will be shown each hour, all day long on Tuesdays and Thursdays and the presentations will alternate on Saturday mornings. And during those lectures, either Dr. Jensen or a graduate assistant will be available to answer questions or for any individual conference.

Thus the student can see and hear the lecture more than once if he fails to understand it initially. If he is ill or misses class, he has the opportunity of seeing the lecture on another date.

When it comes to testing, Dr. Jensen reports and even more dramatic change. Conventional testing, he says, encourages a loaf-and-cram pattern of study; the student ordinarily delays intensive studying until just before testing time. The new system of testing is designed to produce paced study leading to mastery of the material, he feels.

"It is necessary to give the student appropriate tasks," Dr. Jensen says, "and make it convenient for him to perform them. Our job is to engineer an educational environment."

First, based on the text, films and demonstrations, a large number of questions is formulated for each major point of emphasis. By using a computer, stratified random samples of the questions are taken, generating a large number of equivalent forms of exams. This means, in effect, each student receives his own examination.

Several Type

The questions on the exams are of several types, multiple choice and fill-in-the-blank.

They are answered by making pencil marks on a specially designed answer sheet which is graded by the computer. Each question is answered by making a single mark in an array of 26 positions lettered from A to Z.

To answer a multiple choice question, the student marks the blank which corresponds to the letter of the correct answer. To answer a fill-in-the-blank question, the student marks the blank which corresponds to a letter at some position in the word and so must know how to correctly spell the word.

When the student hands in his exam, he is given a copy of the answers to his particular exam, including notations on where he can find information relating to each question.

The examinations have several characteristics, Dr. Jensen points out: they are frequent (given each week); they are overlapping; they are both diagnostic (each major point is studied) and remedial (the answers are pointed out); and they are repeatable. A student can, if he chooses, take an examination as many as three times with only the highest grade counting.

There is one other feature of the exams; they can be taken whenever the student feels he's ready.

However, if he delays beyond the first week for an exam, he automatically loses a certain amount of credit. If he delays beyond the second week, he loses still more.

Thus, there is, Dr. Jensen points out, a mild but progressive penalty for procrastination.

"We don't care when they learn it; we care that they learn it" is Dr. Jensen's philosophy.

4th Semester

Teaching psychology by this method is in its fourth semester at Indiana, according to Dr. Jensen.

He is, however, adding something new at Nebraska: individual contact. Dr. Jensen says when it becomes apparent the student is having difficulty, he will first be contacted by mail and subsequently by telephone and personal conferences if the difficulty persists.

At Indiana Dr. Jensen found the majority of his students in the "B" grade average, rather than the average being in the "C" group as is normal in conventional classes.

There he had about 45% of the class in the "B" range, another 20% in the "A" range. He expects the percentages to hold about the same here.

Any Course

According to Dr. Jensen, any basic, beginning course in any scientific or technical field could be taught by this method. But, he adds, it's not economically feasible for less than 500 students because of the cost of equipment, films and computer time. One of its big advantages is it frees faculty to teach more advanced courses.

Dr. Jensen is no stranger to Nebraska; he was born in Holdrege and has lived in Alma, Kearney and Minden as well. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees in psychology at the university in 1951 and 1955, respectively.

He earned his Ph.D. from Yale, also in psychology, in 1958. Before going to Indiana, he did post-doctorate work at Groningen in Holland.

Marsh: No Comment Yet On Petitions

Secretary of State Frank Marsh said Wednesday his office is not yet prepared to say whether petitions which the Nebraska School Improvement Association(NSIA) proposes to circulate would be in conflict with a bill passed by the last Legislature.

The NSIA Tuesday submitted forms of two petitions it plans to circulate in a move to force a vote next November on constitutional amendments.

One of the petitions calls for a constitutional limit on appropriations or expenditures of the state or its subdivisions.

The other petition proposes a tax on intangible property at tangible property tax rates for school purposes only, if and when K-12 school redistricting becomes mandatory in the state.

The question awaiting answer is whether either of the petitions is in conflict with the 1969 Legislature's LB935, which states:

"The secretary of state shall not accept for filing initiative or referendum petitions which interfere with the legislative prorogative contained in the constitution that the necessary revenue of the state and its governmental subdivisions shall be raised by taxation in such manner as the Legislature may direct."

Marsh said his office so far has received the form of the petitions and a sheet with three signatures.

He said there have been some "low key" legal discussions on the question of acceptability or non-acceptability in the light of LB935, and his office is approaching the matter "in a cautious way."

Marsh acknowledged that petition campaign sponsors would be in a difficult position were they not able to determine the acceptability of the petisions before seeking or obtaining the 48,640 valid signatures required.

On the other hand, he said, his office's legal advisors have pointed out that so far, the office is confronted with little more than the intent to circulate the petitions.

S.SGT. DAVID MITCHELL

Sergeant To Be Tried

Ft. Hood, Tex. (AP) — S. Sgt. David Mitchell will be court-martialed on charges of assault with intent to murder in connection with the alleged massacre at My Lai, the Army said Wednesday.

Sgt. Mitchell has said he is innocent and, further, that he saw no massacre at My Lai March 16, 1968, when the Army accuses him of firing an M16 rifle at about 30 civilians.

He was a squad leader in the platoon of 1st Lt. William L. Calley Jr. when three companies swept through My Lai, a village near the northern coast of South Vietnam.

Exon Sees Farm Policies As 'Devastating'

Democratic gubernatorial candidate J. J. Exon Wednesday said Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin's recently announced farm policies will be "devastating to the interests of Nebraska's agriculture."

They will "seriously affect the state's overall economy in the immediate future," he insisted.

Exon said Nebraska farmers and mainstreet businessmen will be hardest hit by the portion of Hardin's program that would eliminate the $25,737,456.98 which was "pumped into Nebraska alone last spring in the form of advanced payments to producers qualifying under the wheat and feed grain programs."

Hardin's new policy will not save money by deferring those payments, Exon said. "They will just not be paid to the farmers in the spring when the money is needed as has been the case in the past," he noted.

"Because of the seriousness of the situation, I urge Governor Tiemann and his state agricultural director to leave for Washington immediately after the first of the year to plead the case of Nebraska farmers and Nebraska's economy before Hardin, the rest of the administration and the agriculture committees of both the House and the Senate.

"It's time now for Governor Tiemann to rally the governors of other midwestern states, our own senators and congressmen to fight the good fight for Nebraska."

Abrams Has Pneumonia

Saigon (UPI) — Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, U.S. commander in Vietnam, is suffering from pneumonia instead of a lung inflammation as previously diagnosed, American military spokesmen said Wednesday.

Doctors said Abrams was "making progressive improvement" at Saigon's 3rd Field Hospital where he was admitted Sunday.

Public Hearings Slated On Changes In Courts

The Legislative Council Committee on Courts of Limited Jurisdiction announced Wednesday a series of public hearings for five cities in early 1970.

The scheduled hearings are Jan. 16 at Hastings, 1:30 p.m., courthouse; Jan. 17 at Beatrice, 9 a.m., courthouse; Feb. 20, at Fremont, 9 a.m., courthouse; Feb. 21 at Norfolk, 1:30 p.m., city auditorium, and March 13 statehouse.

The study committee is receiving testimony regarding changes in Nebraska's judicial system under a proposed constitutional amendment being submitted to the voters in November 1970.

The proposed amendments would permit establishment of county court judicial districts, give the Supreme Court administrative authority over lower courts and abolish justice of peace courts.

"It is obvious from testimony at earlier hearings," said Chairman Roland Luedtke of Lincoln, "that changes in Nebraska's court system are desirable.'

The committee held December hearings at Alliance and North Platte.

Convict's Case To Be Heard By Board Of Parole

Life-term convict Daniel R. Smith has been added to the list of prison inmates whose cases will be considered by the State Board of Parole Jan. 20.

Smith, 40, of Hastings, is serving a life sentence for first-degree murder in the 1954 death of a five-year-old Hastings boy.

The Parole Board will decide whether to recommend that the state's Board of Pardons commute Smith's sentence to a definite term of years. If a commutation is granted, the inmate could be considered for parole at a future date.

A similar commutation hearing will be held Jan. 20 for Stanley John Nowicki, 47, of Omaha, serving life for the murder of his divorced wife in 1956.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

At Christmas time we got a six-weeks-old Chesapeake retriever puppy, and the scatter hasn't been the same since.

This kind of retriever is a water dog — I mean they swim out and grab ducks you shoot. Naturally at this baby age, the dog does not swim. But he is a very damp child.

Hardly a half hour goes by without someone shouting: "Get the mop!"

The moppets moan and groan. But I only said: "That was the deal when we got the dog for you. You had to do the cleaning up."

☆ ☆ ☆

The puppy is chocolate brown. He has blue eyes. He looks something like a teddy bear.

He has a kennel name naturally. Dogs like this have a geneological chart as good as you could get going through the Mormon archives at Salt Lake City. This dog can look at his chart and tell you all his great-great-great grandparents.

He has a kennel name but we have decided to call him Cody. It is somewhere near his kennel name and is in honor of Buffalo Bill Cody. In some ways this dog looks like a miniature buffalo.

The children screamed down the hall: "Cody has —."

I said: "Don't bother me while I'm working. Get the mop."

Lively times around here.

As soon as word got around, all our friends called up with advice. The women said: "I don't see how you can do it. It's just like having a new baby around."

A man friend — a hunter type — called and said: "You want to send him to a terrific school for retrievers. In Canada. I'll look up the name for you."

I said: "For heavens sake, I'm not going to send this dog to some Ivy League college."

He said: "A good education is never wasted. The dog will learn to hunt."

☆ ☆ ☆

The dog is fed four times a day. He has a formula. Vitamins. Just like any human baby.

The instructions say: "He should have a warm, draft-free place all his own where he can sleep."

I put the dog in it. He wept a bit. Then he got out and climbed into bed with the youngest girl and went to sleep.

☆ ☆ ☆

As a retriever he is doing his best. Of course I haven't shot any ducks for him. But he has retrieved one of my socks. Retrieved it so my foot goes right through the bottom.

He has retrieved all shoes left around the house.

"Get everything off the floor!" I shouted. "Do you think I'm made of money to buy new shoes?"

He looks at me with the soft blue eyes. The chocolate brown face. He wags his trail. The shoe safely retrieved and chewed soggy. Maybe I can train him to retrieve shoes by the pair. Open a shoe store.

All the neighborhood children came around to see the puppy. He had a good audience. He showed them he was a real water dog.

"Get the mop," I told the moppets. "He's your dog."

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Thursday

First day of year finds Moon in Libra and complete emphasis on break from tradition. What was the thing to do today is considered outmoded. Important Capricorn puts prestige on the line.

☆ ☆ ☆

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Accent on how you relate to mate, partner. Cycle is not high. You need rest. Be receptive. Leave initiative to others, and don't take yourself too seriously.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Obtain hint from Aries message. Leave details to others. Limit conversation to pleasant memories, if possible. Plainly, this should be a day to relax, recuperate.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Good lunar aspect today coincides with chance to make fine impression on loved one. You are attractive, capable of doing much that discourages average individual. You shine.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Check safety measures at home. Take it easy with home remedies. The cure could be worse than the malady; get expert advice. Gemini individual could aid you through minor crisis.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Spotlight on possible necessity for short trip. A relative may make special request. Key is to reinstate family harmony. Words spoken during celebration may have to be retracted.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You may find that something of value is temporarily out of sight. This does no mean it is necessarily lost. After some rest—and reflection—you could locate what is being sought.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Lunar cycle is high; you are able to do right thing at right time. A new contact could blossom. But make it a point to fulfill recent commitment.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Best to obtain and protect privacy. Finish what you promised yourself to complete. Start New Year by correspondence, calls — but give self time for quiet reflection.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Friends provide what might be needed, solace. If fatigued, you should blame no indidual — except yourself. You get nothing for nothing. If you overinduiged, you pay price today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You accomplish today. This is done especially if receptive, open-minded. Continue program which has made family member glow with pride.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Good moon aspect today coincides with journeys, philosophical thoughts, long-range decisions. Be versatile. Do not feel burdened with past obligations. Start fresh.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Delve into what appears to be mystery. Refuse to accept superficial answers. Dig deep for required information. Permit mate, partner to take initiative.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are an original thinker. Your goals are serious. This year you will find that your efforts gain momentum, with July an outstanding month.

Wellington Greens
Clifford Place
Bishop Heights

in the suburban areas

This morning we begin a new decade, (doesn't 1970 look funny)? and just as we had 10 times as much to remember yesterday, today we have 10 times the excitement of beginning a new year. Whether we find relative peace in the seventies or blow ourselves up; whether we find a cure for cancer, or all starve to death, whether the styles are maxi, midi, non-existent, we can be glad of a couple of things that we know for certain. The change that keeps life interesting will continue, while the eternal things that help us keep our balance will weather this decade too.

Making resolutions for a whole decade is probably futile, but just this year we could try to eat less, read more, to take a more active part in things and learn to say "no" more often.

In suburbia, the New Year's resolutions may begin with something like "If I ever get those children back in school . . . " or "if I ever get this house cleaned up!" . . . which means that families still are in the recovery stage after a hectic, festive Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Hobelman of Clifford Place are relaxing after an exciting family Christmas at their house. Home for the Christmas holidays were Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Hobelman, Jr. and their children of Bridgeport; Mr. and Mrs. Don Longwell and their family of Tulsa, Okla; David Hobelman of Kansas City, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hobelman, Mrs. John Gruber and Lola, all of Lincoln. The only family member missing was Sp. 5 Lance Hobelman, whose homecoming in March makes the new year something to which the entire Hobelman family look forward to. He will complete over two years of duty in Vietnam with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

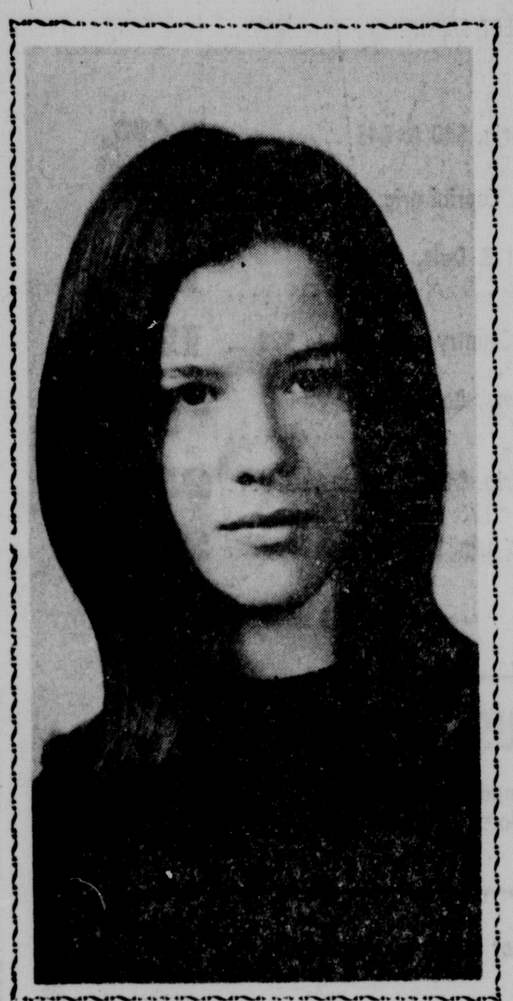

Mr. and Mrs. Fay H. Moore also had their children as guests for Christmas. Returning home this weekend after a week with the Moors were Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Mulligan and their sons of Wichita, Kan., and Dr. and Mrs. Fred Regnier of West Lafayette, Ind. Mr. and Mrs. Leland Moore of Brownville and Mrs. Vera Rippon of Auburn joined the family for Christmas Day festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Fisher had Mrs. Fisher's son, David Drevo home for Christmas vacation from the University of Nebraska. Their special Christmas Day guest was Mrs. Davy Slater.

This past weekend the Fishers drove to Chamberlain, S.D. to visit Mr. Fisher's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Fisher.

Another family together for Christmas was that of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Johnston. Mrs. Johnston's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnston of Lexington arrived in Lincoln from El Paso, Tex., where they'd gone for the Sun Bowl game. They return to Lexington this week. Mrs. Johnston's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Garner of Omaha also were on hand for the Christmas festivities, as were Dr. and Mrs. Glenn R. Johnston who spent Christmas Eve and Christmas Day with their son and daughter-in-law.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Effinger saw the New Year in with their guests — their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Vladimir Berniklau and children of Albuquerque, N.M. The Berniklau family also is visiting Mr. Berniklau's mother, Mrs. Rose Berniklau, during their stay in Lincoln.

MISS CARLOTTA SHIBA

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Tosh Shiba of the engagement of their daughter, Carlotta, to Jon Schmidt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schmidt of Naperville, Ill.

The wedding will take place in May.

Miss Shiba is careering in Lincoln.

Mr. Schmidt is serving with the U.S. Air Force and is stationed at Travis Air Force Base, California.

Bridal Party

Revealing plans this morning for her approaching wedding is Miss Catherine Cleveland, daughter of Mrs. Lloyd William Cleveland and the late Mr. Cleveland, whose marriage to Paul Douglas Harper will be an event of Saturday afternoon, Jan. 10.

A very special member of the wedding party will be Capt. Troy Cleveland, who will travel all the way from Heidelberg, Germany, to give his sister in marriage.

For the 3 o'clock ceremony, which will be solemnized at First Plymouth Congregational Church, Miss Cleveland has named her cousin, Miss Patsy Cleveland, as her honor attendant. The bridesmaids will be Miss Christie Schwartzkopf, Miss Sally Miner and Miss Kim Jaenicke, both of St. Louis, Mo.

Edwin Lee Harper of Washington, D.C. will serve his brother as best man. The groomsmen will be Lt. Alan Harper of Frankfurt, Germany, Richard Harper, of St. Louis, and Jim Hoelter, also of St. Louis.

Miss Cleveland is a student at the University of Nebraska, where she is affiliated with Pi Beta Phi sorority. Mr. Harper, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Edwin Harper, Jr. of St. Louis, is a graduate of Principia College in Elsah, Ill.

Event Of 50 Years Ago Is Celebrated

Dec. 30, 1919 was an exciting day for one Lincoln family. There was a wedding at what was called in those days, St. Mary's Cathedral — now known as St. Mary's Church.

Dec. 30, 1969 also was an exciting day for the same family which has increased in numbers during the past 50 years — and again there was activity at St. Mary's Church.

The bride and the bridegroom 50 years ago last Tuesday are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Carroll of Ventura, Calif., former residents of Lincoln and Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll came from Ventura a few days ago to celebrate their golden anniversary in Lincoln and to be with the family. There was a quiet service at St. Mary's at 6 o'clock, a Mass and a Papal Blessing for Mr. and Mrs. Carroll. Following the ceremony at the church there was a dinner at the Legion Club which was attended by Mr. Carroll's daughters, his brothers and sisters, his nieces and nephews—and cousins.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll's two daughters are Mrs. Ernest Dahl of Ventura, Calif., who accompanied her parents to Lincoln, and Mrs. John Valdes of Brookfield, Ill.

Attending the church service and the dinner were Mr. Carroll's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carroll and their son, Michael Carroll; his niece, Mrs. Robert Meehan, and Mr. Meehan, all of Omaha; Mrs. James Williams of Minneapolis, also a niece; Mr. Carroll's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Miles McCullough of Brady.

The Lincoln relatives at the celebration included Mr. Carroll's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joe T. Carroll; his sisters Mrs. Helena Griffin, Mrs. Irene Layton, and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr and Mrs. R. F. Moran.

Also on the guest list were Mr. Carroll's nephew, Dr. William Griffin; his nieces Mrs. Dale Harm — and Dr. Harm; Mrs. Don Dischner, and Mr. Dischner; and his cousin, William Carroll. And a special guest was Msgr. John J. Flynn.

In the picture, seated left to right, are Mrs. Dahl, Mr. Carroll, Mrs. Carroll and Mrs. Valdes.

Courtesies

The guest of honor at a prenuptial courtesy which will take place Friday evening, Jan. 9, will be January bride-elect Miss Barbara Porath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. Porath. Hostesses at the informal get-together, which will be held at Union Loan and Savings party room, will be Mrs. David Krumm and Mrs. Jerry Dominguez. The guests will present the soon-to-be bride with a miscellaneous shower.

The marriage of Miss Porath and James E. Newell will be an event of Saturday evening, Jan. 24.

Recently complimented with a courtesy was another bride-elect, Miss Charlene Cutshall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Cutshall, who will become the bride of Paul D. Hill on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 3. The hostess at the party which took place on Thursday, Dec. 11, was the bride-elect's aunt, Mrs. Norman Bockoven, who entertained at her home. During the informal afternoon, guests presented Miss Cutshall with a miscellaneous shower.

For the ceremony, to be solemnized at 2 o'clock at the Lutheran Church in Hardy, Miss Cutshall has named Mrs. Tom Kaelke of Quincy, Ill. as her matron of honor and only attendant. Ron Springer of Superior will serve Mr. Hill as best man.

Mr. Hill, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hill of Hardy, attended Kansas State University.

PEO Chapter

Chapter SQ, PEO will hold a meeting next Tuesday evening, Jan. 6, at the home of Mrs. Alvin D. Safranek, 1149 So. 48th St.

Holiday Season Wedding Chosen

At a 4 o'clock ceremony on Saturday afternoon, December 27, the wedding of Jane Perry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Layke Howett of Lincoln, to Frederick Corol Brown, son of Dr. and Mrs. Earl H. Brown, and grandson of Dr. and Mrs. Corol E. Brown, all of Lincoln, took place at the College View United Presbyterian Church in Lincoln,

The matron of honor, Mrs. Richard Lane, appeared in a street length costume of green velvet, with three-quarter length sleeves, featuring jeweled buttons on the bodice and a dropped waistline.

The bride appeared in a street length gown of cranberry velvet, designed in the princess mode and fashioned with a V-shaped neckline contoured with white fur. She wore a matching bandeau of the cranberry velvet in her hair, and carried a shower arrangement of red roses on a white fur muff.

Mr. Brown, who attended the University of Nebraska and who is currently serving in the Army at Fort Polk, La., and his bride will reside in Lincoln.

No Generation Gap At This Party

No one could find even a trace of a generation gap at 130 Lakeshore Dr. on Tuesday evening. As a matter of fact the young set planned the entire evening which, in case you didn't know, honored the 25th wedding anniversary of Dr. and Mrs. John Clyne.

We hear that the 10 Clyne children were determined to have a party in celebration of their parent's anniversary, and we also heard that once the decision was made Miss Pam Clyne more or less served as organizer.

Regardless of who did, or didn't, do the organizing, the plans worked out perfectly. Some one even rescued an attic treasure — the ornament that topped the cake at Dr. and Mrs. Clyne's wedding. The younger generation of Clynes went to work on it, mended, burnished, re-decorated the ornament and arranged it on the anniversary cake.

ABBY: stop progress report

DEAR ABBY: My husband has a problem that is positively driving me up a wall! Jim and I have been happily married for 22 years and have 3 children.

Recently, a good-looking 21-year-old girl came to work as a secretary in the same firm where my husband works. Jim said that this brazen girl let him know very soon that she was "fond of him" — and asked if he could get her transferred to his department. He told her no, he couldn't.

Now Jim tells me that every day she finds excuses to run into his office, and she leaves him little "love notes." Jim said that he explained to her that he was a happily married man, and she should quit bothering him.

Well, she hasn't quit, and now I am angry with Jim for not taking more drastic measures to get her out of his hair. Should I butt in? And if so, how? JIM'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You ARE "in." Your husband has seen to that. You are being "driven up the wall" by Jim's daily reports — not his "problem." It seems to me that a grown man could find some way of discouraging a brazen girl from pursuing him so hotly. (Could it be that Jim is enjoying it?)

Tell your aging Lochinvar to tell the little office flirt to get lost. And tell him, too, to please discontinue the "progress reports."

Opening lead — eight of spades.

Here is an interesting deal that demonstrates the contrasting styles of American and Italian slam bidding. The hand occurred in the Italy-U.S. match in 1963.

When Jordan and Robinson were North-South for the U.S., they bid as shown. Here is a capsule explanation of their bids:

One diamond. Natural.

One heart. At least four hearts and at least 6 points.

Three clubs. A game-forcing rebid suggesting a 20-point hand playable in diamonds, clubs, hearts or notrump.

Three diamonds. A mark-time bid to see where partner is heading. North already knows there is a slam somewhere.

Three hearts. Ace of hearts.

Three spades. Ace of spades.

Three notrump. South identified a blanaced hand.

Four clubs. King of clubs.

Four diamonds. No further values to show.

Six diamonds. That's all there is, there isn't any more.

The Italian North-South pair, Forquet and Garozzo, playing the Neapolitan Club, bid as follows:

One club. Artificial bid showing at least 17 points.

One notrump. Artificial response showing two aces, one ace and two kings, or four kings.

Know Your Antiques

Flapping arms shaped like paddles help this whirligig indicate the air speed. This type of carved wooden toy was popular with children. It was made in Pennsylvania in the late 19th century.
(National Gallery of Art-Index of American Design)

By RALPH AND TERRY KOVEL

Waving his wooden arms in the wind the whirligig added to the delight of the child of past centuries. This toy was also a wind velocity indicator on many farms. Arms, often shaped like small paddles, were carved on the wooden figure. The arms would swing from the shoulder. They were attached with a rod so that both arms moved at once. The wind caught the wide part of the arm and blew it round and round hence the name "whirligig."

These toys have been known since the 15th century. Variations have been found in almost every country. A commercial metal version was made in America during the early part of this century.

Banana skins, marigold seeds, glue, and many other strange products have been suggested as a way to "turn on." The police are now reporting nutmeg as a popular herb being used by some teenagers. There seems no proof that the nutmeg has any strange properties but it was a popular spice in the 18th and 19th centuries.

Thousands of silver or tin nutmeg graters used in the past centuries can still be found. The nutmeg or mux moshata has had a long history of magical properties. It was used as a fumigant to protect one from the plague duriig the 12th century. By the 17th century it was occasionally added to tobacco to sweeten the air.

Nutmeg was taken alone to cure many types of disease. It was also used on food to disguise the flavor of meat that was slightly spoiled. Sometimes it was steeped, like tea. It was sprinkled on the top of many alcoholic drinks. It is still used during the Christmas holidays for "Tom and Jerrys."

The well-dressed lady or gentleman of the 18th century carried a silver pocket nutmeg grater. The efficient housewife of the 19th century had a tin nutmet grater in the kitchen. For whatever reasons you may prefer, nutmeg has remained a "magical" spice for hundreds of years. Many antique nutmeg graters are still in use.

Q. The names Vautroit and Ackely are on the back of my coin silver spoons. The bowls of the spoons are pointed.

A. Pointed spoons were made for use in eating grapefruit or oranges. The point made it easier to scoop out the citrus section. Vautroit and Ackely worked in Warren, Ohio about 1850.

Q. My oak rocking chair is marked "Taylor Chair Co." Will that help to date it?

A. The Taylor Chair Company of Bedford, Ohio was founded in 1816. It is still in business.

Why Grow Old?

Q. Please tell me if you feel it is possible to dress attractively and be attractive although I am 5 feet 9. Isn't it unusual for one to grow taller in the mid-twenties?

A. Most people have their full height by the age of 25. Forget your height. Many of the models and many famous beauties in the entertainment world are as tall as you are and taller. The most important thing is to develop lovely posture. There are stores which specialize in clothes designed especially for the taller-than-average woman.

Q. Please put in the paper how to bleach the hair on my arms. It is getting very noticeable.

A. Make a mixture of peroxide and household ammonia in these proportions: four drops of ammonia to three tablespoons of peroxide. Pat this on with cotton and let it dry, then wash it off.

Q. I have hair on my face. Shall I use one of the hair removers? Will this make the hair come in thicker? Also is there any way to kill the roots?

A. The only way to kill the roots or banish superfluous hair permanently is with electrolysis. You can use one of the depilatories on the hair on your face but this is temporary. There are some which are designed especially for this. Be sure to use this kind.

Wolverines Slight Pick Over USC

Pasadena, Calif. (AP) — Michigan's Wolverines, the team which slew the dragon, Ohio State, and unbeaten, once-tied Southern California, collide in the 55th Rose Bowl football battle New Year's Day.

Upward of 100,000 are expected to jam into Pasadena's historic old saucer and sunny weather was forecast for the 4 p.m. PST kickoff.

Millions more can watch it all on television via the National Broadcasting Company.

Michigan, co-champions of the Big Ten, won eight games and lost early in the fall campaign to Missouri and Michigan State.

The Trojans of Southern Cal, en route to the Pacific-8 Conference title and an unprecedented fourth straight journey to the Rose Bowl, was tied at Notre Dame, 14-14.

Coach John McKay's Trojans, losers to Ohio State here a year ago, finished the regular season ranked No. 5 in The Associated Press poll.

Michigan, in Bo Schembechler's very first year as a Big Ten coach, was rated No. 7.

The final AP ballot for the mythical national championship will be taken after all the holiday bowl games are over.

Michigan goes into this one a slight favorite, a premise apparently based on two considerations — the Wolverines' demolition of Ohio State, which even the 24-12 score doesn't truly reflect, and the hair-raising, cliff-hanging performances by the Trojans.

The men of McKay actually had to come from behind or break a tie in their last seven games to remain undefeated.

Neither coach feels the scoring will be very high although Michigan did roll over such foes as Vanderbilt, Washington, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois by top-heavy tolls.

USC had a waltz against Northwestern and Oregon State but for the most part the Trojans had to cut 'em pretty close, such as Stanford, 26-24, and UCLA, 14-12, not to mention Notre Dame.

Field architect for Michigan is Don Moorhead, a junior who Schembechler points out met and defeated such rivals as Mike Phipps of Purdue and Rex Kern of Ohio State.

All-American end Jim Mandich is Moorhead's leading pass receiver and Bill Taylor the chief running back.

Throttle-man for USC is Jimmy Jones, a sophomore and a kid McKay simply describes as "a winner," which indeed he is.

Both quarterbacks are excellent pass-run option players.

Michigan may have the better offense, while McKay says his defense, led by the Wild Bunch, is far superior to last year's Rose Bowl team.

Said Schembechler, "The Wild Bunch is as quick as Ohio State and 25 pounds heavier. It wouldn't be so bad if they were big and slow or small and quick. But they're big and they're quick."

Heard Named Top Player In Tourney

Kansas City, Mo. (UPI) — Garfield Heard, Oklahoma's 6-6 senior forward from Hogansville, Ga., has been named the most outstanding player in the Big Eight Basketball Tournament.

Heard, who led the Sooners to their first tourney championship since 1948, received 51 of 63 ballots cast by sportswriters and broadcasters.

Heard, who was hampered by knee surgery last season, has regained his old form. He scored 68 points as Oklahoma defeated Kansas, Kansas State and Colorado en route to the championship.

Runner up the Heard in the voting was Colorado's Cliff Meely. Meely received eight votes and Colorado's Gordon Tope got two. Oklahoma's Scott Martin and Nebraska's Chuck Jura received one vote each.

The all-Tournament team, announced Wednesday, included Heard, Meely, Tope, Kansas' Dave Robisch and Missouri's Dave Pike.

Omaha Knights Slam Kaycee Icers, 5-2

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha Knights took another Central Hockey League victory at Ak-Sar-Ben Wednesday night, beating the Kansas City Blues 5-2. Within 19 seconds of the second period, Omaha scored on plays by Andre Dupont and Jack Egers. Third period scorers were Tom Miller and Don Luce.

Best Punting Average

Ed Marsh of Baylor had the best collegiate punting average in 1969. His punts averaged 43.6 yards.

Texas Guns For Undisputed National Crown

. . . PERFECT WEATHER FORECAST FOR COTTON BOWL TILT WITH NOTRE DAME

Dallas, Tex. (AP) — The sun beamed on the Cotton Bowl for the first time in five days Wednesday and it appeared Thursday's classic between No. 1 ranked Texas and Notre Dame, absent from the bowl picture for almost 45 years, will be played in near perfect weather.

Texas is rated a touchdown favorite over the scrappy, beefy Irish, who are ninth-ranked and making their first appearance in a bowl since 1925 when Knute Rockne's Four Horsemen whipped Stanford and Ernie Nevers 27-10 in the Rose Bowl.

The three surviving members of the Four Horsemen will be on hand in one of the most colorfuls bowls in Cotton Bowl history.

Texas is undefeated in 19 consecutive games and boasts the most powerful offensive machine in the land — averaging 363 yards per game on the ground.

Texas will not be without its inspiration. Besides striving for the national championship — the final Associated Press poll this year comes out after the bowls — the Longhorns have dedicated the game to their courageous safety Fred Steinmark, whose cancerous left leg was amputated several days after Texas' 15-14 victory over Arkansas.

Doctors said Steinmark more than likely will be allowed to attend the game. He's on crutches and hopes to be along the sidelines with his teammates.

"It's going to mean so much if he's out there with us," said halfback Ted Koy.

The game will feature Texas' ground-gobbling "Wishbone-T" with four of the toughest running backs in the land — quarterback James Street, Koy, Jim Bertelsen and thunder-running fullback Steve Worster.

However, the Longhorns have not met a line as large as Notre Dame's — anchored by all-America Mike McCoy, a 280-pound monster with cat-like reflexes. Notre Dame outweighs Texas 20 pounds per man in the line.

Notre Dame coach Ara Parseghian said the weight advantage of the Fighting Irish is offset by Texas' quickness and speed. He also points out that Texas has a much larger backfield than his Irish, who compiled an 8-1-1 record during the regular season.

The Irish are not without firepower. Quarterback Joe Theisman is an all-around, poised athlete who can move a team. Fullback Bill Barz, running back Denny Allan and split end Tom Gatewood are expected to keep the tough Longhorn defense in hot water.

Both teams line up with four down linemen and four linebackers. In fact, Texas coach Darrell Royal said he installed the Notre Dame defense after watching the Irish in spring practice two years ago.

Texas' all-America offensive tackle Bob McKay has rejoined the team after a bout with influenza and an inflammation of the pancreas.

A sellout crowd of 71,000 will jam the Cotton Bowl for the 1 p.m. CST kickoff and a national television audience of millions will be tuned in via CBS.

The weather bureau predicted clear to partly cloudy skies at game time with temperatures in the middle 40s and winds 10-15 miles per hour out of the west — which would be a cross wind in the north to south Cotton Bowl.

A helicopter has been operating around-the-clock to help dry out the soggy Cotton Bowl turf, which got a heavy rain Sunday during the Cleveland-Dallas pro-game.

A Cotton Bowl official said good footing for the kickoff was almost a certainty.

"I'd like to see us play on a good, fast field in bright sunshine," said Royal. "We're a ball handling team. We run a lot of options, pitches and laterals."

JUST RELAXING . . . Missouri end Mike Bennett relaxes with Gwen Lampitt at Miami Beach, Fla., as the Tigers approach their Orange Bowl clash with Penn State New Year's night.

29-GAME STRING ON LINE

...Missouri Three-Point Favorites Over Lions Tonight

Miami (AP) — Second-ranked Penn State, its 29-game undefeated string hinging on its ability to harness a mighty offense, tackles sixth-ranked Missouri's explosive Tigers Thursday night in the 36th Orange Bowl football classic.

A sellout crowd of more than 77,000 plus a national television audience in the millions will watch the opening kickoff at 7 p.m., CST. Missouri, co-champion of the Big Eight Conference, is favored by three points.

"Missouri is the best offensive team we have played in the 20 years I have been at Penn State," said coach Joe Paterno of the Nittany Lions. "I hope our defense can keep us in it."

Missouri's arsenal includes just about everything — the 9.3 speed of wide receiver Mel Gray, the tough running of tailback Joe Moore, the running and passing of quarterback Terry McMillan and the versatility of slotback Jon Staggers.

However, Penn State counters with a punishing defense that has led the Nittany Lions to two straight 10-0 seasons plus a 15-14 comeback victory over Kansas, a Big Eight neighbor of Missouri, in the 1969 Orange Bowl game.

The Eastern power's 21-game winning streak is the nation's longest and the only mar on the Penn State record in the last 29 games was a 17-17 draw with Florida State in the 1969 Gator Bowl.

UCLA handed Penn State its last defeat, 17-15 in 1967.

A pair of all-Americans, 245-pound tackle Mike Reid and 210-pound linebacker Dennis Onkotz, led the talented Lion defense that scored or set up 107 points this year compared with the 87 points scored by the opposition. Only 56 of those points came against the Lion starters.

Although billed as a classic offense vs. defense battle, Missouri coach Dan Devine says the Lions are dangerous on the attack.

Quarterback Chuck Burkhart, who threw for 805 yards, has never lost a college or high school game in which he started.

Backing Burkhart are three running backs with similar statistics—Fullback Franco Harris (643 yards) and halfbacks Charlie Pittman (706) and Lydell Mitchell (616).

It was Burkhart's 47-yard pass to Bobby Campbell that set up the 185-pound quarterback's three-yard touchdown run that gave Penn State its chance to beat Kansas in last year's Orange Bowl. Campbell ran for two points after Kansas gave the Lions a second shot at victory by having 12 men on the field when Burkhart's pass fell incomplete.

Penn State, critical of President Nixon for declaring Texas the national champion, gets its last chance to surpass the Longhorns in The Associated Press Poll. The Lions could have settled the issue on their own, but they turned down the chance to play in the Cotton Bowl.

—STRONG'S 184 YARDS LEAD 36-7 RAMPAGE—

Houston Racks Auburn In Bluebonnet

Houston (AP) — Jim Strong riddled Auburn's stingy defense with power and speed Wednesday night to lead the Houston Cougars to a 36-7 Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl game victory over Auburn.

Houston scored a pair of touchdowns and a field goal the first three times the Cougars had the ball. The combined drives covered 183 yards with Strong, a senior from San Antonio, accounting for 124 of them in 11 plays.

The early 19-minute rampage gave the Cougars a 16-0 lead that Auburn never seriously threatened.

Both teams had received their Bluebonnet bids with 8-2 records but Auburn had been tabbed a one-point favorite, primarily because of having the nation's No. 3 rushing defense that had given up only six touchdowns in 10 games.

But Houston backed Strong's running with an impressive defense of its own, allowing the Tigers only a net of one yard on the ground compared with their 224-yard regular season average.

Strong scored twice on runs of one and 12 yards and finished with a net of 184 yards for 32 carries. The highest team rushing total rolled up against Auburn this season was 173 yards by Tennessee.

Strong's performance before an overflow crowd of 55,203 — the second largest for football in the five-year history of the Astrodome — earned him the trophy as the game's outstanding back.

Jerry Drones, a Houston end, was named the outstanding defensive player.

Houston recovered an Auburn fumble on the opening kickoff and Gary "Moon" Mullins, the Cougars' midget quarterback, plunged over from the one seven plays later. A 70-yard surge then set up a 27-yard field goal by Carlos Lopez.

Just four plays later, Strong circled his left end and raced 74 yards before being overhauled and knocked off balance by Buddy McClinton at the Auburn 10. Four plays later, Strong took a pitchout from Mullins and moved around left end again to score from the one.

This ran the score to 16-0 and Auburn struck back quickly for its lone touchdown. On a drive that covered 67 yards, quarterback Pat Sullivan, on a halfback option, handed off to Mickey Zofko, who passed 36 yards to Connie Frederick for the score.

In the second half Houston struck for 71, 57, and 46 yards for three more scores. Ted Heiskell scored the first touchdown from the one seconds after he had cut loose with a 48-yard third period run to the Auburn four.

Strong scored the second from the 12 and Tommy Moziek got the final touchdown on a 20-yard pass from Rusty Clark.

Auburn made only two other serious scoring threats.

Midway in the second period, the Tigers used Sullivan passes to move from their 39 to the Houston eight but Cougar defenders knocked down a pair of end zone passes to halt the threat.

Early in the third period, Auburn moved from its 31 to the Houston 28 before the attack bogged down and a 45-yard field goal attempt by John Riley was blocked by Glen Lewis, a Cougar defensive end.

Most observers had anticipated the game might develop into an offensive thriller featuring Mullins and Sullivan, a pair of brilliant sophomore quarterbacks.

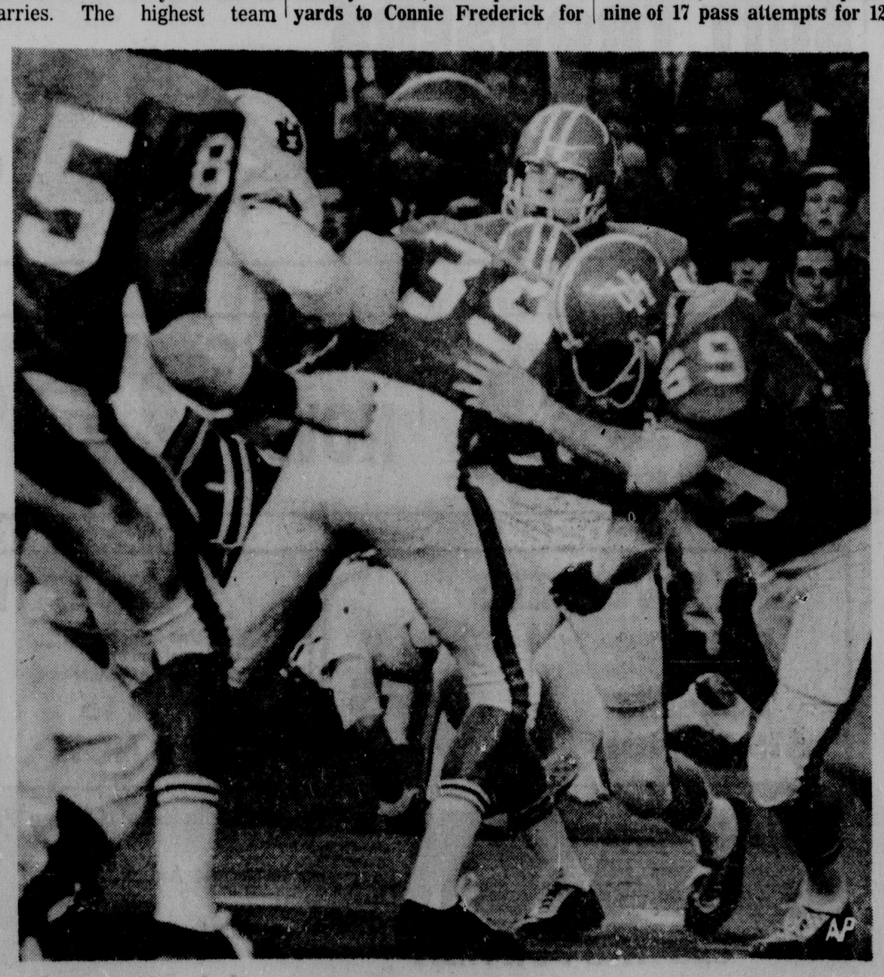

In addition to scoring one touchdown, Mullins completed nine of 17 pass attempts for 120 yards. He also netted 54 yards on 13 keeper plays.

Vols' Dickey Takes Florida Grid Post

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP) — Doug Dickey resigned Wednesday after six years as Tennessee's head football coach and accepted a five-year contract as Florida's coach.

Dickey's announcement that he was going to Florida came two hours after Ray Graves' statement in Gainesville, Fla., that he was quitting as Florida's head coach to devote full time to being athletic director.

The two announcements ended days of speculation that Dickey, a Florida graduate and quarterback on the 1953-54 Gator teams, would succeed Graves, who observed his 51st birthday Wednesday.

John Majors, Iowa State coach and a former Tennessee all-American tailback, and Jimmy Dunn, Dickey's top aide, are regarded as the two top candidates for the Tennessee job.

Dickey reportedly will receive at Florida an annual salary of $27,000, plus an estimated $150,000 paid-up life insurance policy. He got $26,500 a year at Tennessee.

Florida President Stephen O'Connell first contacted Dickey last summer about succeeding Graves, who has held the combined jobs of athletic director and head coach for the last 10 years.

Dickey said O'Connell contacted him again soon after the end of the 1969 season and he got permission from Tennessee officials to talk to Florida authorities.

Dickey said he met with O'Connell, Graves and three members of the Florida selection committee Dec. 21 while he was in Jacksonville preparing for the Florida-Tennessee game in the Gator Bowl Dec. 27. Florida edged Tennessee, 14-13.

"I agreed to consider the offer and told them I would have an answer sometime after the bowl game," Dickey told a news conference.

He said he decided to accept the Florida offer "after much thought, discussion and prayer."

Tennessee athletic Director Bob Woodruff, whose task it will be to screen applicants for Dickey's job, said: "I asked coach Dickey not to meet with the Florida officials down there (Florida) before the game. I thought it was the wrong thing to do."

But Woodruff, whom Graves succeeded at Florida, and other Tennessee officials praised Dickey for a job well done at Tennessee and wished him well in his new undertaking.

President Andrew D. Holt put it this way:

"The University of Tennessee will be forever indebted to coach Doug Dickey and his staff, not only for the large number of wonderful victories they have brought to our institution, but also for the emphasis they have placed on scholarship, and also for the example of clean living they have consistently set for the outstanding young men who have played under their direction."

Dickey compiled a 46-15-4 record at Tennessee and won the Southeastern Conference championship in 1967 and 1969. Tennessee had 9-1 marks both years.

In the 10 years since Graves, 51, left an assistant's job at Georgia Tech, he compiled a 70-31-4 record. Twice, in 1960 and 1962, he was named Coach of the Year in the Southeastern Conference. He also led Florida to four victories in five bowl games.

Dickey said he had reached no decision on his staff, but several members of his Tennessee staff are expected to accompany him to Florida.

Razorbacks Need Win Over Rebs

New Orleans (AP) — Arkansas' third-ranked Razorbacks, with everything to lose and not much to gain, collide with the Archie Manning-led Mississippi Rebels before a sellout crowd of 82,000 Thursday in the 36th annual Sugar Bowl football classic.

The pregame attitudes of the opposing coaches — veteran Johnny Vaught of Ole Miss, making his 13th straight postseason showing, a national record, and Arkansas' Frank Broyles, a winner here a year ago against Georgia — could be a gauge of the outcome, although the professional oddsmakers have the Razorbacks favored by three.

Vaught's been acting as though he didn't have a worry on his mind. Broyles, on the other hand, appears concerned and even closed his practice to the press and pro scouts, something he rarely does.

The kickoff is 12:45 p.m., CST. The game will be on ABC television, blacked out in most of Louisiana.

Arkansas, 9-1, was the No. 3 team in the final regular season Associated Press rankings. The Razorbacks slipped one notch after their 15-14 loss on Dec. 6 to top-ranked Texas. Vaught insists that the best team didn't win.

Mississippi, 7-3, with losses to Alabama, Kentucky and Houston, was ranked 13th. With Manning, a lanky auburn-haired junior who is rated among the nation's best quarterbacks, at the throttle, the Rebels blossomed into November's No. 1 spoiler. Ole Miss handed Tennessee and Louisiana State their only losses, shocking Tennessee, then No. 3 nationally, 38-0. The Rebels also upset Georgia when the Bulldogs were nationally ranked and previously undefeated.

"The Razorbacks are by far the finest team we've faced this year and our toughest bowl assignment in a long time," says Vaught. "Arkansas has a fine offense but I think their biggest asset is their defense, which has been overlooked to a great extent."

The Razorbacks led the nation in defense against scoring, allowing 76 points in 10 games. Ole Miss yielded 140 points. Both teams averaged more than 30 points an outing.

The Rebel defensive corps is headed by end Hap Farber, 6-2 and 220, tackle Buz Morrow, 6-4 and 240, and safety Glenn Cannon, who intercepted seven passes in the regular season.

They'll try to stop an Arkansas offense quarterbacked by Bill Montgomery which averaged 405 yards per game and features the pass-catching of Chuck Dicus, 42 for 688 yards and four touchdowns, and the running of Bobby Burnett, a tailback who rushed for 900 yards and scored 20 touchdowns.

Dicus, most valuable player award recipient in the 1969 Sugar Bowl, won 16-2 by Arkansas, says Cannon "Is better than Jake Scott." who was Georgia's all-American safety a year ago.

Montgomery, a talented junior, completed 53.8 per cent of his passes for 1,333 yards and had seven intercepted. Snapping the ball to Montgomery will be center Rodney Brand, the game's only first-team all-American.

The Razorback defense depends largely on linebacker Cliff Powell, defensive back Terry Stewart and defensive end Bruce James.

Of the quarterbacks in the country who ranked high in total offense statistics, got lots of Heisman Trophy votes and all-American accolades, Manning was the only one who led his team in both passing and running.

Noted mainly for his throwing — 58.1 per cent accuracy, 1,762 yards and nine touchdowns — Manning gained 648 yards running.

"He's the most versatile quarterback I've ever seen," said Broyles.

The Arkansas coach has never beaten Vaught. They've met five previous times.

And the Razorbacks have a longshot chance at the national championship. It'll take a convincing victory over Mississippi, plus upsets in the other New Year's Day bowls, to move Arkansas ahead of Texas and Penn State in the final balloting, however.

Browns' Passing Feared By Vikes

. . . BRYANT OUT OF GAME

Minneapolis-St. Paul (AP) — Minnesota's pass defense theory of giving up the short ones to prevent the big ones gets a stern test Sunday in the National Football League championship game against the Cleveland Browns.

The Vikings used the theory to lead the NFL in interceptions, 30, during the regular season and in pass defense, 1,631 yards to 14 opponents.

Those figures helped the Vikings set NFL records for the fewest points allowed in one season, 133, and fewest yards yielded, an average of 194.3 a game.

In a 23-20 Western Conference championship victory over the Los Angeles Rams last Saturday, the short pass theory almost did the Vikings in.

Los Angeles quarterback Roman Gabriel picked apart the Minnesota defense for 22 completions in 32 attempts for 150 yards, mostly in the first half when the Rams led 17-7.

"We learned a great lesson in discipline and poise," coach Bud Grant said, "That we're not going to get beat giving up the short ones."

But the Browns will be bringing one of the most potent NFL pass receiving arsenals into the noon CST game at Minnesota's Metropolitan Stadium in Gary Collins, Paul Warfield and Milt Morin.

"Their receivers are the best set in football," Grant said. "Warfield is the best after he catches the ball. Collins is the best clutch receiver in the league and Morin the strongest."

The Browns also will have running backs Leroy Kelly and Bo Scott available as receivers.

Collins caught 54 passes for 786 yards and 11 touchdowns, Warfield grabbed 42 for 886 yards and 10 TDs and Morin latched onto 37 for 495 yards as the Browns chalked up a 10-3-1 record.

Quarterback Bill Nelson, who passed for 2,743 yards and 23 touchdowns in the regular season, completed 18 of 27 attempts for 219 yards and a touchdown to Morin last Sunday in Cleveland's 38-14 shellacking of Dallas in the Eastern Conference final.

"Bill Nelsen showed his true passing ability at Dallas," Grant observed.

The Browns lost to the Vikings 51-3 in the regular season when cornerback Bobby Bryant intercepted three passes.

But Bryant, who led Viking defenders with eight interceptions, won't play this week. He injured a knee in the 10th game and underwent surgery Tuesday for removal of torn cartilage.

Taking his place is Ed Sharockman, the 1968 starter who has one interception. Other defensive backfield starters are cornerback Earsell Mackbee, who has six interceptions; free safety Paul Krause, five interceptions, and strong safety Karl Kassulke, two thefts.

What has made the defensive backs so successful this year has been the savage rush of Minnesota's defensive front four and the improved play of the linebackers.

But Grant expects the short pass theory to get a thorough test.

"They have more game-breakers than anybody in the league," Grant said.

Collier Is Hoping For Good Field

Cleveland (AP) — The condition of the playing field Sunday at Bloomington, Minn., is one of the big concerns of Cleveland Browns' coach Blanton Collier as he prepares his team to meet the Minnesota Vikings in the National Football League championship game.

"A frozen field is worse than a slippery field," Collier says. "That's the time when breaks take over. I hope the field will be soft enough for good footing.

"They feel the same," Collier said of Vikings' officials. "It's covered with some kind of a thermal blanket. We may even cut down on the pre-game warmups to help keep it from freezing if the weather is cold."

Collier this week had his players view films of the Vikings' 51-3 triumph over the Browns in November because "We simply wanted to see what they did and to see what we did wrong."

It was the first time that Collier had allowed the players to see the films. He refused to show them earlier because he claimed that no constructive purpose would be fulfilled. He denied that this week's showing was for "chastising or psyching" the players.

After reviewing the films, Collier said that since the November game, the Vikings have improved. "They have polished some things," he said.

"We didn't hit people," linebacker Dale Lindsey said after looking at the films. "The last few games our pursuit and gang tackling has improved. It was good against Dallas. It will have to be even better in Minnesota."

The Browns will be appearing in their 11th championship game in 20 NFL seasons. They've won four of the 10 previous games.

The Vikings, on the other hand, will be appearing in their first title game. "I would guess they'd be very hungry," Collier said.

"I hope the fact that we went to the title game and lost will have some effect on us," he continued. The Browns dropped a 34-0 decision to the Baltimore Colts in last year's championship tilt.

John Morrison led Northern with 21 points, while Larry Cook got 20. Calvin Anderson put in 30 points in Valley City's scoring effort, with David Knauss and Ken Fientchner both getting 22.

Ski Patrol Eyes Emergency Bid Radio System

Denver (AP) — The National Ski Patrol is seeking to install an emergency radio system to provide faster aid to injured skiers.

The patrol said it asked the Federal Communications Commission this week for assignment of a frequency and operating authority for special emergency radio equipment.

"With more and more skiers on the slopes, and with ski areas expanding across more mountain terrain, many accident reporting and accident prevention systems employed by the ski patrol are no longer adequate," said Herbert Schneider, the Patrol's communications adviser.

"The system-wide use of emergency radio service will enable Ski Patrols around the United States to provide the skiing public with faster first aid for injured skiers," Schneider said.

Oklahoma Wins Loop Tourney

Kansas City (AP) — Oklahoma's precocious sophomores and veteran board strength completed an amazing sweep through the 24th Big Eight basketball tournament Tuesday whipping the defending conference champion Colorado, 73-72, for its first title since 1953.

The Sooners, now 10-1, had won the tourney only once before that — beating Kansas, 52-49, in 1948.

Oklahoma defeated Kansas 68-64 in overtime and Kansas State 72-67 in storming into the title match.

Steve Ayers, a senior guard who earlier in the game cracked a knee hard in a tumble to the floor, came back from dressing room aid to sink the clinching free throws with 14 seconds left.

They gave the Sooners a 73-70 lead. Colorado missed its next shot, Oklahoma recovered and Bobby Jack was fouled. He missed his charity attempt but the Sooners let Colorado's Gordon Tope take a layup unmolested as the final gun sounded.

The Buffaloes, now 7-4, rallied from a 29-19 deficit midway through the first half to take a 39-38 halftime lead. They scored the last eight points of the first half as the Sooners hit a two-minute drought.

Biggest advantage either side mustered in the second half was a pair of five-point advantages in the final period. Colorado's last lead was 58-57, but the Buffaloes never trailed by more than four in the stretch run.

While senior Garfield Heard led Oklahoma with 22 points and senior center Clifford Ray added 16 it was the scoring of Jack who also notched 16 and the floor direction of yearling Scott Martin that got Oklahoma its narrow edge.

'Heart Attack Bunch' Newest Cage Production Of Baron Of Bluegrass

Lexington, Ky. (AP) — Adolph Rupp has had the Fabulous Five, the Fiddling Five and Rupp's Runts. Now he's stuck — or blessed, as the case may be — with the Heart Attack Bunch.

Sure, Kentucky is ranked No. 1 in the nation. Sure, the wildcats have won all of their eight games. Sure, they are averaging more than 96 points a game.

But this is an odd Kentucky team. They win as others have done in the past; Rupp having one break-even season and no losing ones in 39 years as the Wildcat coach.

"No, we don't have a killer-type team," Rupp said Wednesday in an interview. "But for a sick man doing the coaching, I guess we could have one of the best teams we've ever had at Kentucky."

Rupp has been bothered by an ailing foot, propping it prominently in front of the Kentucky bench at every game. It hasn't overcome his temper, however, which gets him on his feet often at every game.

"It's like the Miami (of Ohio) coach said," Rupp tried to explain his team's style. "He said he just was waiting for the explosion — not knowing when it would come, but expecting it."

Kentucky broke loose last Monday in a four-minute period in the second half to put on ice an 80-58 victory over Miami, the Wildcats' eighth victory of the season.

Earlier in the game, curbstone coaches were noting how the Kentucky players seemed to be confident that the spurt would come and just tried to stay in front while waiting for it.

The Wildcats blew a 10-point lead to two; later saw other leads drop to three on several occasions.

"I've seen other teams more confident, I guess, than this one," said Harry Lancaster, who is full time athletic director this year after 19 years as Rupp's assistant.

"The Fabulous Five (winners of two NCAA titles) were extremely confident and that Hagan-Ramsey-Tsioropolous (1951-54) team knew they were good, too," Lancaster added.

But this year's team seems to be depending more on two men — Dan Issel at 33 points a game and Mike Pratt at 22.3 — than any in Kentucky history, veteran observers say.

Rupp has said many times that he has troubles at the guard position, usually his strong spot. He also is getting a hot-and-cold performance from forward Larry Steele, averaging 11.8 points a game.

Issel, who is called one of Kentucky's best players ever, and Pratt, who Rupp terms the most underrated player in the nation, are taking up the slack.

"For a man who lost his guards, I think we're doing pretty good," Rupp said, referring to the injury to Mike Casey and the graduation of Phil Argento.

"Given guards like we'd want, I just don't know where we'd be," added the coach who has won more games than any other in the history of college basketball.

Big Exacta Pays $68,269 In Penn

Philadelphia (AP) — An unidentified bettor began the new decade by winning a record $68,269 Big Exacta at Liberty Bell Race Track Wednesday.

The payoff set a Pennsylvania state record, eclipsing the previous record of $67,510.40 set on Dec. 10, 1969. The winning numbers were 2-7-8-9.

Bell's Traveler, a 21-1 shot ridden by Robert Kotenko, made a furious rush on the far turn and went on to win the seventh race, first half of the Big E, by six lengths. Bell's Traveler paid $44.40 to win. Man of Peace, a 42-1 shot, came from last to finish second. Man of Peace paid $33.40 to place. The two horses were the longest shots in the field of seven.

The whopping payoff was capped in the eighth race, second half of the Big E, when Jet Quick nipped Winter Man by a head under jockey John Belmonte. Jet Quick paid $14.20 to win. Winter Man, a 9-1 chance, returned $9.20 to place.

Chiefs Likely To Test 'Bumping' Air Defense

. . . DAWSON IN BETTER SHAPE

Santa Barbara, Calif. (AP) — Len Dawson hinted Wednesday that one facet of Kansas City's game plan for Sunday's American Football League championship struggle might include a challenge to the unique technique employed by the Oakland defensive backs.

"I would say," Dawson admitted, "that the Raiders would see more than the six passes we attempted last time. I'm in much better condition now. I think we would have gone more all out last time if I had been in excellent condition."

The last time, with Dawson hampered by a damaged left knee, the Chiefs tackled the Raiders with a ground-based offense in which they tried only half a dozen passes, starting a controversy over their game plan after they lost 10-6.

The controversy now has become a weapon in the Chiefs' arsenal, with closed workouts and a self-imposed edict of secrecy clouding the issue of whether Kansas City will employ the same type of offense.

Dawson, however, hinted the issue would revolve around different circumstances this time and at the same time implied rather strongly that there would be a test of one of the Raiders' strong points — the bump-and-run technique.

"One of the things that makes their pass defense different," said Dawson, "is the bump-and-run. Not everyoone can do it. If everyone could, more teams would, but they don't. Your corner backs must have speed and reaction and the quickness to recover."

The Raider cornerbacks, Willie Brown and Nemiah Wilson, use the bump-and-run effectively, coming right up to the wide receivers and hitting them, legally, as soon as they come off the line of scrimmage to throw the potential pass catchers off stride.

The technique is effective for that simple reason. But it requires a great deal of agility on the part of the defender who almost invariably surrenders a step to the receiver when he bumps and then must recover quickly when he runs or be outdistanced.

"The receiver is used to a guy playing seven yards off him because that's what he sees most of the season," Dawson explained. "Now he's seeing a different technique and that makes it difficult because it forces him to do something different than he's accustomed to.

"But you can't ignore it because then you make their job easier. So you have to try and hurt them with it; make them get out of it."

Dawson said the primary method of achieving that was by providing enough time for the quarterback to hit the receiver after he has been bumped and gotten back into stride.

"The primary thing you must have is time to throw," Dawson explained. "That can be a type of game plan, too. You have to move the ball around so the defense can't tee off and you do that by varying the pocket, rolling out and using play action passes."

At the same time Dawson dealt with the bump-and-run technique he also dealt with the subject of the Chiefs' four straight losses to the Raiders, a fact that is being cited as a psychological edge for Oakland.

Dawson acknowledged that might be so.

"That won't be completely forgotten when we go into the game," he said frankly. "But you know that football is a game of now and not yesterday and that streaks of those type have to be broken sometime.

"I'm hoping this is the week."

Denver Rodeo Has Largest Entry Number

Denver, Colo. (AP) — A record number of professional rodeo cowboys, including all the 1969 world champions, are expected to compete in this year's National Western Stock Show Rodeo in Denver, the Rodeo Cowboys', association said Wednesday.

The 19-performance rodeo begins Jan. 16, and continues through Jan. 25

Among the contestants will be Larry Mahan, 26, of Brooks, Ore., who won the all-around cowboy title for the fourth straight year with winnings of $57,745.

Last year's National Western drew 430 entries and prize money of $78,547, making the rodeo one of the top five in the nation.

The rodeo committee again this year is offering a $40,000 purse, to which entry fees will be added.

Hardwick Dominates Pin Honors

Akron, Ohio — Billy Hardwick of Louisville, Ky. has made a virtual clean sweep of the honors handed out by the Professional Bowlers Association (PBA) for the year just ended.

It became official today that the 28-year-old Kentuckian won the George Young Memorial Award . . . the award presented each year to the professional bowler who has the highest pinfall average for at least half of the year's tournaments.

Hardwick averaged 212.957 pins-per-game for the 32 tournaments in which he competed. This average is a new record, breaking the mark of 212.844 set by Don Carter of Tarzana, Cal. back in 1962.

Hardwick's consistency on the lanes was nothing short of fantastic as he won six PBA championships and the BPAA All-Star to set still another record. He earned $64,160 for the year.

The PBA's 1970 winter tour starts in Wichita, Kansas with the $45,000 Wichita Centennial Open from January 6-10. First place will be worth $6,000.

Humphrey Accuses Nixon Of Doing Everything Wrong

Washington (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey accused President Nixon Wednesday of an effort "to repeal the '60s," which he called a decade of turmoil and trouble — yet of experience and American progress.

"The Nixon administration has its priorities upside down," the former vice president said in a New Year's Eve interview.

"What the Democratic Congress had to do was to reverse the priorities of the administration," he said. "The Democratic Congress put people first.

People Said Uninformed

"The Nixon administration has failed to tell the country what are its goals and what are its priorities," said Humphrey.

He charged that the Republicans seem more concerned with defusing opposition and protest than with confronting the problems which create dissent.

"An administration that engages in a process of repair like they're mechanics or account executives is not what this country needs to meet the problems of the '70s," Humphrey said.

He cited four laws enacted during the past decade as among the most important steps taken by the nation during that period:

—The civil rights act of 1964, with its ban on segregation in public accommodations.

—Federal aid to education.

—The voting rights act of 1965, enforcing equality at the polls in the Deep South.

—The war on poverty.

'Power Base Spread'

"We have spread the power base, the political power base," said Humphrey, defeated by Nixon for the White House, and now on the verge of a Minnesota campaign to return to the Senate.

In the decade ahead, he said, the problem of pollution and contamination of the environment will be a premier issue.

"The leadership that has been given by the administration in this field has been very puny indeed," Humphrey said.

He said the availability of health and medical care to Americans at all income levels will be a problem in the years ahead. In that context, Humphrey sharply criticized Nixon's threat to veto a budget-hoisting appropriation for health and education spending.

Larry Seigle was re-elected chairman of the Young Socialists Alliance in Minneapolis, Minn., Wednesday.

Lincoln Library Gets $187 From Memorial Fund

The Lincoln City Library was the recipient of a $186.84 check from the Lincoln Foundation's Endowment Fund, representing income from a memorial fund established by Mrs. Helen Y. Thomson of Rancho Santa Fe in honor of her late husband, Dr. J. E. M. Thomson.

Dr. Thomson, a prominent Lincoln physician and orthopedic surgeon, died in 1962.

At the request of the donor, 40% of the income from the memorial trust account will go annually to the Lincoln City Library.

Firth Man Suffers Injuries As His Shotgun Explodes

A Firth man was injured Wednesday when a 12-gauge shotgun exploded in his hands while he was target shooting approximately seven miles south of Lincoln.

Injured was Stephan L. Weber, 20, who underwent surgery in Bryan Hospital to repair his injured hand.

Deputy Sheriff Louis Harroun said the type of shells found at the scene indicated that reloaded shells were being used in the gun.

The barrel of the weapon was almost cut in two by the malfunction.

'Tiemann Tribute' Dinner Speaker To Be Announced

The guest speaker for a "Tribute to Tiemann" dinner to be held in Lincoln in February will be announced at a news conference in Lincoln late Saturday, supporters of the re-election bid of Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann reported Wednesday.

There has been speculation that Vice President Spiro Agnew might be the guest speaker.

Also to be announced at the news conference will be state and area chairmen for the February dinner, sponsors said.

The news conference is scheduled at 4 p.m. Saturday at the Lincoln Hotel.

Inmate Sentenced To 1-Year Term On Escape Count

Nebraska Penal Complex inmate Edwin Blackfeather was sentenced in Lancaster District Court Wednesday to a one-year term on a charge of escaping prison.

The 18-year-old Blackfeather was charged with escaping April 28 by jumping from a truck which was transporting prisoners from a work detail on a prison farm. He pleaded innocent initially, then changed his plea to guilty.

Blackfeather was captured by a state patrolman two miles north of Fremont.

The convict was serving a term for burglary at the time of the escape.

Tiemann Names 3 To Provisional Board

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann announced Wednesday three appointees to the provisional board of directors for the Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District.

They are William D. Craig of Ogallala, Raymond R. Aden of Gothenburg and Robert W. Meyer of Grand Island.

The trio along with DeWayne Wolf of Kearney and Joel P. Rhoads of North Platte will constitute the provisional board to oversee that merger agreements between Platte and Consumers Public Power District are carried out in the formation of the Nebraska Public Power District on Jan. 1.

The Platte provisional board is expected to exist for about two years, until refinancing of bonded debt can be accomplished by the merged district.

Tiemann also reappointed Kenneth L. Dawson of Osmond to the State Motor Vehicle Inspection Advisory Board for a five-year term.

New Group Advocates Tax Reform Movement

Hastings (AP) — A small group calling itself the Association of Concerned Taxpayers says Nebraskans should refuse to pay real and personal property taxes "until a satisfactory statewide tax reform movement gets under way."

Blake Mankin, a rural Hastings farmer and chairman of the Adams County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said about 16 persons are members of the tax group, but he declined to identify them. Mankin said he is acting secretary of the association.

The tax organization paid for an advertisement in the Hastings Tribune to urge the withholding of tax payments as a protest against what the group believes are unjust property tax laws.

"We were promised property tax relief when the state income and sales taxes were added, but this did not happen," said Mankin. "And now, our sales and income taxes are also going up."

Special Session Urged

In the advertisement the association also called for a special session of the legislature to rescind the State Board of Equalization order raising rural property valuation in Adams County by 75%.

The group said it supports a move for a constitutional limitation on increases in local and state government spending and urged that a tax on intangible property such as stocks and bonds be reinstituted.

Without property tax reform, Nebraska's economy will continue to suffer because of unfair tax burdens on farmers, Mankin said.

"When the farmer goes down, the doors will shut in Roseland, Ayr, Pauline, Kenesaw (small Adams County towns) and even in Hastings," said Mankin. "Hastings already is affected."

Mankin said he hopes citizen tax groups will spring up across Nebraska "so that sanity can be restored to spending on a statewide basis."

HIGH FOR HONEYMOON

Miss Indiana of 1968, the former Nikki Peck, and her husband, Joe Nixon Jr. of Bloomington, Ind., are spending part of their honeymoon trying to scale Grand Teton Mountain near Moose, Wyo., with 20 other climbers during the New Year's holiday season. Extremely cold temperatures and high winds have prevented the groups from reaching the top. The lead group was within 500 feet of the summit when wind and cold turned them back.

State Popcorn Output Climbs 34 Per Cent

By the Associated Press

Popcorn production popped upward sharply in Nebraska this year, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported Wednesday.

Growers in Nebraska are estimated to have raised 76.8 million pounds of popcorn, up about 34% from the previous year's 57.5 million pounds.

The 24,000 acres harvested were only 1,000 more than last year, but the average yield of 3,200 pounds per acre represented a sharp increase over the previous year's 2,500 pounds.

Much popcorn now is being grown on irrigated land, thus boosting yields, although dryland yields also were unusually good in 1969, the division said.

Quality of the popcorn crop, most of which is grown under contract for processors, was exceptionally high this year.

In another report Wednesday, the statisticians disclosed that the state's production of dry edible beans increased by 18% in 1969. Output was estimated at 1,702,000 hundredweight, compared with 1,440,000 the previous year.

The 92,000 acres harvested this year compare with 80,000 acres last year. The yield per acre of 1,850 pounds represented a slight increase over 1968.

Mother Sent To Prison On Child Neglect Count

Omaha (AP) — District Judge James O'Brien has sentenced a mother accused of child neglect to one to two years in the Women's Reformatory at York.

Mrs. Sheila Scheller, 25, of Omaha was sentenced for probation violation after Judge O'Brien heard of her family's activities since she was placed on one-year probation in September for issuing no-fund checks.

The judge was told by social workers that they went to Mrs. Scheller's home after she was arrested on Dec. 5 for petty larceny. They said they found that her four girls, ages 3 through 8, had been home, apparently alone, for several hours and there was little food in the home.

They told the judge several bottles of liquor, bedding and clothing were strewn about the house.

Mrs. Scheller, a widow, said the children had been left with a baby sitter, and they apparently made the mess in the apartment when the baby sitter went to get the mother out of jail. She said the liquor belonged to her boyfriend.

Probation officers said that at a later hearing on the children's custody the mother refused to say where the children were. Her attorney said Mrs. Scheller felt "under duress" at the time and couldn't answer properly.

The children were found later in a garage which the mother said had been made over into living quarters for a friend of Mrs. Scheller, she said. The girls have been placed in the temporary custody of an aunt.

Chain-Link Fence Is Ordered Early For Fort Calhoun

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha Public Power District says it will erect a chain-link fence around its Fort Calhoun atomic power plant ahead of schedule to keep unauthorized persons off the site.

The fence, which will be topped by barbed wire, also will solve the problem of workers leaving the project without permission during the work day, OPPD said.

Atomic Energy Commission regulations require a fence around the plant.

Lincoln's -17 Coldest Spot In Entire U.S.

The Lincoln weather bureau was reportedly the nation's coldest spot Wednesday with an early morning low of 17 below zero.

Downtown Lincoln couldn't share the honors as the low temperature recorded was around 10 below.

By mid-morning the mercury was up to 2 above with light snow falling in the Capital City, and by afternoon the temperature had climbed to a brisk 20 with continued light snow.

Across the state, Chadron and Scottsbluff reported lows of 9 degrees, Imperial 17, North Platte 16, Grand Island 1 below, Norfolk 10 below and Omaha 2 above.

Forecasters look for somewhat warmer weather in Nebraska on the first day of 1970. Lincolnites can expect a high in the mid 30s.

Farlin Appointed Stock Specialist

Stan Farlin has been hired as livestock specialist at the University of Nebraska's south central extension headquarters in Clay Center, it was announced.

Farlin, who had been an animal science professor at the University of Idaho, will take over the job as of Thursday.

The headquarters serves 19 counties in the south central portion of the state.

'Tribe' Outdated

Lusaka (AP) — The word "tribe," said Zambia's national guidance minister, Justin Chima, was "introduced by our colonial masters for administrative purposes" and is no longer valid. He told a news conference that the country's 72 "tribes" now are to be called clans.

Injured Hunter Figured He Had 4 Minutes Left

Omaha (AP) — Lynn Denton figured he had "about four minutes to live" when a shotgun deer slug slammed into his neck and he fell to his knees, blood spurting from his throat.

"I really didn't feel the bullet entering me," he recalled. The sound — kind of a whapping sound — deafened me."

The 40-year-old Council Bluffs, Iowa, truck driver was shot accidentally while he and 13 other men were hunting near Sidney, Iowa, on Dec. 7.

Physicians told Denton later the slug cut his windpipe, then hit bones in his neck, traveled down and toward his back, struck a rib and richocheted into his left lung.

After he was struck by the slug, he fell to his knees.

"I knew I was dying," he recalled. "I thought of all the things in my life I wanted to do. I thought of my children. I prayed to God."

Recalled Signal

Then Denton remembered an emergency signal he and a longtime hunting companion, Herbert Hyde of Council Bluffs, had worked out. Denton fired two shots in succession from his shotgun, then two more.

"I knew I was in danger of drowning in my own blood, so I got my head down," Denton said.

Hyde came to investigate. He stuffed a handerchief into Denton's throat in hopes of stopping the bleeding and the hunting party rushed Denton to a hospital in Hamburg, Iowa, for emergency surgery.

On Dec. 17, the slug was removed from Denton's lung during surgery in an Omaha hospital.

"The doctor said it was the biggest piece of lead he had ever removed from a person's body," said the patient, who recovered sufficiently to earn a visit home for Christmas.

Denton said that shortly before he was hit by the deer slug, he turned his head toward the sound of the shot. This saved his life, doctors said, because the slug missed Denton's vital jugular artery.

Love Letters for the Holidays...

Dear Grandad,
Thank you for the check for Christmas. I never got one before. Dad told me it is real money. We are going to take it to the big blue bank downtown. Dad said it will grow into more money there, I am rich. I ate too much candy yesterday. I am better now.
I love you Grandad,
Jane

My dear Jane,
I'm glad you liked the check. And taking it to that big blue bank is a fine idea. Your father and I let our money grow there, too. Please be careful not to eat too much candy. I don't want my little Jane to feel bad again.
I love you, too.

Market Ends Year With Lively Rally

New York (AP) — The stock market rang out the old and disappointing year with a resounding rally Friday in one of the heaviest trading sessions in New York Stock Exchange history.

Prices moved doggedly ahead in the face of an avalanche of yearend selling for tax purposes and portfolio rearrangement.

Volume soared to 19.38 million shares, third highest this year and ninth highest ever.

The trading explosion also hit the American Stock Exchange, where volume burst to a record 11.36 million shares. The previous record of 10.81 million shares was set on June 13, 1968.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials advanced 5.68 to 800.36, closing above 800 for the first time since Dec. 2. On the last day of 1968 the Dow Industrials closed at 943.75.

The Associated Press 60-stock average rose 1.5 to 271.1, with industrials up 3.1, rails unchanged, and utilities up .9.

Surprisingly in a generally advancing market, declines led advances by 11 to 6, with 3 unchanged, among the 20 most-actively traded New York exchange issues.

Occidental Petroleum, off 1/8 to 24⅜ on 241,300 shares, was the most-active. Seaboard Coast Line Industries, off 1 to 33½ on total volume of 210,100 shares, including a block of 192,200 shares, placed second. Other big blocks included 64,400 shares of Ambac Industries and 62,100 shares of Tandy.

Copper stocks were particularly strong as the result of boosts of four cents a pound in the domestic prices of copper by three major producers. Advances included Phelps Dodge 2½ to 50¼, Kennecott 2⅜ to 46¾, American Smelting 1⅛ to 32⅜, and Copper Range 1½ to 67⅝.

Twenth Century-Fox which gained 2 Tuesday, continued strong and active, closing up 1⅝ at 18⅞. A company spokesman said investor interest apparently had been aroused by the success of three movies.

Glamor stocks moved up as well as blue chips. Gains by three volatile issues included Texas Instruments 3¾ to 124¾, Honeywell 3 to 141½, and National Cash Register 2½ to 160½.

Ling-Temco-Vought ran against the rising trend, losing 2⅛ to 25⅜. The company said it had negotiated a five-year Eurodollar loan of $22 million through its Netherland Antilles subsidiary.

Price changes among the most-actively traded Big Board issues included Benguet, up ⅜ to 12⅜; American Telephone off ½ to 48⅝; Gulf & Western, off ⅞ to 18¾; Texas Gulf Sulphur, off ⅝ to 21⅝; and RCA, off ⅞ to 34.

The American exchange index rose 11 cents to $26.27. Of 1,115 issues traded, 549 advanced and 392 declined.

Fat Cattle Market Levels Off

Omaha (AP) — A declining fat cattle market leveled off on the years final trading session at Omaha Wednesday. Light year end marketings produced a generally steady price level for the day.

Narrowing demand has kept the market on the defensive thus far this week, with most buying interests operating on a cautious and selective basis and not overly aggressive for numbers in view of the holiday work recess. Dressed beef prices at wholesale were also under pressure and drifted lower. Thus, two lower jabs on Monday and Tuesday left values for the three days this week a flat 50-1.00 lower than last week's late levels.

Best buyer inquiry continued to center on better quality cattle on the lighter weight order. With steers upwards of 1,200 lbs very slow to move at times.

Cows meanwhile, continued their upward drive, taking a strong to 50 higher course again. Three solid advances added up to 1.00-1.25 upturn for the week to date. Bulls Wednesday shaped up fully steady and strong on the week.

Feeder cattle trading was quiet.

Butcher hogs were unevenly lower on supplies of around 5,000 head.

Porkers under 240 lbs were 25-50, instances 75 lower while heavier weights were steady to 25 lower. Sows were mostly steady.

Wooled lambs were steady. Shorn were absent. Ewes were quoted steady at 6.00-8.00.

Wheat Futures Prices Advance

Chicago (AP) — Wheat futures advanced nearly 1½ cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade Wednesday and tended to influence higher prices for other commodities on the exchange.

Trade was mixed, although public involvement appeared to be light. The session ended at noon, 1 hour and 15 minutes earlier than usual.

The buying of wheat futures was generally linked to new export business, to short-covering and a report that Argentina's crop might not attain early expectations. Prices eased once off early highs but staged another rally at the close. Rye prices also moved ahead, generally in line with wheat.

At the close, wheat was ⅜ to 1¼ cents a bushel higher, March 1.47½; corn was ¼ to ⅝ higher, March 1.21⅜; oats were ⅜ to ⅝ higher, March 63⅝; rye was ⅛ to ¾ higher, March 1.12¾; and soybeans were 1 cent lower to ½ higher, January 2.46½.

Deal Reported Offered For Freedom Of Hoffa

Washington (AP) — Informed sources confirmed Wednesday that quietly mysterious approaches have been made to the White House to swap information on labor racketeering in exchange for freeing Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa from prison.

But, it was learned, representatives of the 57-year-old Hoffa have not made clear what information is involved. Until they do, government officials won't even consider referring to President Nixon the request for a commutation of Hoffa's 8-year jury tampering sentence, it was reported.

"Apparently it's somebody's private effort," said a spokesman in the international headquarters of the two-million member Teamsters Union here. "We have taken no official stand for fear of jeopardizing Hoffa's case."

JAMES R. HOFFA

Petition Claimed

In St. Louis, attorney Morris Shenker said he had petitioned the Justice Department for a presidential commutation of Hoffa's sentence, but a Justice Department spokesman said, "We have had no contact from Hoffa or his lawyers."

Other knowledgeable sources said that such a bid was made directly to the White House.

These sources said that because of an internal tug of war for control of the union and its $400 million pension fund, one faction wants Hoffa freed but another group does not want him released.

Shenker said the Justice Department spokesman was correct in saying there had been no contact, if the spokesman meant there had been no discussions. "We haven't talked with anyone there about it," Shenker said.

Called Routine

But he insisted that what he termed a routine application for presidential commutation was sent in by mail about three weeks ago. Shenker said he didn't handle the matter personally, but he assumed the application went to the Justice Department.

"They always do," he said, "and this was just a routine matter. We handle these kind of things all the time. It was just routine."

In addition to the jury tampering conviction, stemming from a previous charge that Hoffa made illegal payments to a trucking firm, Hoffa was convicted and sentenced to five years for mail fraud in connection with loans from the pension fund.

Appeal Still In

He is still appealing the mail fraud conviction. Appeals have been exhausted in the jury tampering case.

Hoffa, in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., has served two years and 10 months. The U.S. Parole Board rejected his parole application last October and said it would consider it again in 1971.

Hoffa, while giving up his $100,000 a year salary when he went to prison, retained the title of Teamsters' president. His five-year presidential term expires July 7, 1971.

Frank Fitzsimmons, a longtime close associate of Hoffa from Detroit, is serving as acting president under union constitutional procedures that Hoffa rammed through a Teamsters convention before he went to prison.

Negotiations Set

Fitzsimmons will open next week the Teamsters nationwide contract bargaining covering some 450,000 of the union's members in the trucking industry.

One Teamsters source said the trucking negotiations could give the first open clue if a factional fight is developing for control of the union.

This source also said bids had been made to government officials to free Hoffa on grounds that he is needed to steer the negotiations to a peaceful contract without a nationwide strike.

Hoffa's numerous bids for freedom also include a petition in U.S. District Court in Chattanooga, Tenn., to throw out his jury tampering conviction on grounds it was based on illegal wiretapping by the Justice Department.

British Pay $172.8 Million Back To America, Canada

London (AP) — Britain ended a decade of economic travail Wednesday by paying back $172.8 million worth of postwar debts to the United States and Canada and with the nation's money and trade soaring.

But even with paying off debts to Washington and Ottawa, the British still owe the United States about $3.4 billion and Canada about $850 million.

The repayments in Washington and Ottawa represented annual installments of principal and interest on 55-year American and Canadian loans. They were negotiated to tide Britain over the aftermath of World War II. A year ago the repayments were deferred — for the fourth time since 1946 — because of a dollar shortage.

Recovery Dramatized

Britain's move Wednesday in a sense dramatized the recovery, at least for the present, in the nation's fortunes.

The pound sterling hit a 20-month peak, Tuesday breaking through the parity-barrier against the dollar with a 13-point rise to $2.4002. For Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor government, which 25 months ago devalued the pound from $2.80, this was cheering news.

Sterling's new-found strength reflects Britain's currently booming trade. Wilson claimed early in December that the nation now has "one of the best balance of payments figures in the world" because of the big increase in the volume and value of its exports.

Government leaders are forecasting a surplus of earnings over spending abroad in the region of $1.2 billion for the fiscal year ending next March. This would help redeem the country's shorter-term debts, now estimated at more than $2.4 billion.

Sterling Was Groggy

But through the 1960s the scene for the British was not nearly so sunny. For long periods the nation failed to pay its way. Sterling had a groggy look. Even the slightest squall on international money markets was enough to touch off bouts of speculation against the currency.

The past year, though, brought Britain three big blessings in quick succession. The French franc was devalued. West Germany's mark was upvalued. The country's own exports zoomed because competition became a bit easier and the volume of world trade swelled.

British repayments made Wednesday were $138 million to Washington and $34.8 million to Ottawa.

Floodwaters Falling In Appalachia; 6 Dead

By The Associated Press

Floods crested and started falling in Appalachia Wednesday, leaving six dead and hundreds homeless, while a new storm of snow and freezing rain hit the battered Northeast and created travel hazards for New Year's Eve revelers.

Mountain creeks and rivers in Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky — swollen by melting snow and up to two days of rain — reached as high as 11 feet over flood stage.

Families fled to schools and National Guard armories on higher ground. But by Wednesday afternoon National Guardsmen and Red Cross volunteers had turned from evacuating residents to helping them back into their mud-scarred homes.

Highways Blocked

Highways were blocked at numerous points in Virginia. Remains of landslides and flood-smashed bridges hampered clean-up efforts.

In Virginia the flood area was some 200 miles southwest of the area ravaged by flash floods from Hurricane Camille last August. This week's flooding built up gradually, allowing time for 328 persons to get out.

The hardest hit area of West Virginia appeared to be south and southwest of Charleston. Water surged window-level deep through the community of Oceana and some 300 families took shelter in churches, schools and city halls in Logan County.

Women Drown

Two young women drowned when a rural road washed from under their stranded car south of Beckley, in southeastern West Virginia.

Victims in Tennessee included one man washed from beside his flood-stalled auto and another electrocuted in his flooded basement as he tried to reactivate his water pump.

Four persons died in the state altogether.

In Kentucky most damage was confined to the southeastern section, particularly in Harlan County where the Cumberland River rose to 11 feet over flood stage. Some 350 families were moved from low-lying areas.

Nixon Signs Foreign Aid Bill With Criticism Of Congress

San Clemente, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon signed the $1.9 billion foreign aid authorization bill Wednesday with a shot at Congress for heavily slashing his original request.

"I submitted the lowest aid request in history and regret that this act reduced the request substantially," Nixon said in a statement.

"Further large cuts in the appropriations bill would have serious consequences for U.S. foreign policy," he declared.

The chief executive, asserting his personal conviction that foreign assistance remains "vitally necessary," had asked for $2.6 billion to help friendly and undeveloped countries.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon toiled at the Western White House Wednesday with key aides on the first State of the Union address of his presidency, to be delivered on Jan. 22, and on his new federal budget, which will be submitted to Congress on Jan. 26.

Ziegler confirmed reports that W. K. Smith, a vice president of traffic for General Mills, is under active consideration to be permanent chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In the meantime, Nixon tapped ICC Commissioner George M. Stafford, a Valley Falls, Kan., Republican, to be acting chairman of the commission.

Judge Overrules New Trial Motion In Wilbur's Case

Lancaster District Judge Bartlett Boyles Wednesday overruled a motion for a new trial for Gary Wilbur, convicted of manslaughter in connection with the death of his wife, Judy, last August.

Wilbur, for whom an innocent plea was entered by the court when he stood mute at his arraignment, was found guilty earlier this montn by a jury of six women and six men.

According to testimony at the trial, his wife died of liver injuries sustained from a severe "blow" in the abdomen.

Warning Issued To Snowmobile Users In Norfolk

Norfolk (AP) — Police Chief Jim Brenneman has ordered a crack down on the illegal use of snowmobiles on Norfolk streets.

Brenneman said he recommends against driving the snowmobiles on city streets for safety reasons, but he noted they are not banned from the streets if the drivers and snowmobiles meet state safety standards.

He said the number of snowmobiles used on the city's streets has increased significantly this winter.

Grant To Platte

Columbus (AP) — A grant of $1,250 was presented the Platte College Foundation Wednesday by the First National Bank and Trust Co. of Columbus. It was the first installment of a total grant of $5,000.

DID YOU KNOW THIS? IT'S A FACT:

Boothia Peninsula in Canada's Northwest Territories is the northernmost tip of land of continental North America.

Adolescent boys of the Tomas tribe in Guinea are imprisoned for two years in wicker cages before being initiated into manhood.

☆ ☆ ☆

The fisher, a member of the weasel family, is one of the few animals to prey consistently upon the porcupine.

Only female mosquitoes bite. The male of most species is, as an entomologist put it, 'an inoffensive little insect whose diet is nectar and about whose only function is propagation.''

The Mississippi River provides New Orleans with 309 billion gollons of water daily.

The first life-insurance policy of which there is a specific description and record was issued in 1583 on the life of "William Gybbons, citizen and salter of London." A premium of 32 pounds was paid for one year's protection and when Gybbons died within the year, his beneficiary collected 400 pounds.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

One letter simply stands for another in this example, A is used for the three L's X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A X Y D L B A A X R to
L O N G F E L L O W

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

Small Children Eat LSD-Coated Christmas Candy

San Francisco (UPI) — Two small children were in good condition after apparently eating LSD-coated candy their father said was intended for "religious purposes."

Patrick Wilson, 18 months, and his 2½-year-old sister Samantha were rushed to Alemany Hospital.

Solem, 43, a Republican, is a member of the Omaha public school's advisory council for vocational education and serves on the advisory board of LEAP, a government financed organization to recruit minority group young men into Omaha construction apprentice programs.

Solem attended Dartmouth College and the University of Nebraska and served in the Navy during World War II.

Bail Refused Again

Bracknell, England (UPI) — A British court again refused bail to a retired British army captain charged with planning to blow up a Boeing 707 jetliner for a $72,000 fee. The court ordered Trefor Owen Williams, 40, held in jail one more week. Williams was arrested last Dec. 23, and charged with possessing 11½ ounces of gelignite for an unlawful purpose.

All But 12 Return To Prison After Christmas Leave

Raleigh, N.C. (AP) — The North Carolina Department of Correction gave 450 prison inmates Christmas leaves of between one and four days. All but 12 returned after Christmas sober and on time.

Of these, said Deputy Commissioner George Randall, "one escaped, one died, two showed up late. The rest celebrated a little too much and ran afoul of the law."

Randall said 12 of 450 "isn't bad at all," adding that the Christmas leave program will be continued.

As for the one who hasn't returned, said Randall, "we'll get him."

Douglas Board OKs Pay Raises

Omaha (AP) — The Douglas County Board has approved pay raises ranging up to 47% for county offices to be filled in the 1970 elections. The raises would be effective in 1971.

The county attorney would receive the largest raise, 47%, boosting his salary from the present $20,000 to $29,500. The county school superintendent would get the least, raising him from $12,000 to $13,000.

Omaha's Sales Tax Will Produce Less Than Expected, Says Hewitt

Omaha (AP) — City Finance Director Edwin J. Hewitt says Omaha's new one-half per cent sales tax will produce about $600,000 less during the coming year than city officials had hoped.

In a memo to Mayor Eugene Leahy, Hewitt said some of the additional services that were to be financed with the new sales tax revenue will have to be deferred.

The City Council planned in the 1970 budget for $5.5 million from the sales tax, which went into effect Nov. 1. Hewitt said he now expects the city to gain about $4,896,400, after the state takes its 3% cut as a collection fee.

The finance director said more than $3 million of the sales tax money must go to already-approved pay raises for municipal employes and another $863,000 has been earmarked for the proposed Papio Creek sewer project.

"About all the remaining money does is cover fixed obligation costs such as street lighting, refuse collection, disposal costs and jail feeding," he told the mayor.

Flames Damage Storeroom At Jewelry Store

Central City (AP) — A storeroom at the rear of Billesbach's Jewelry Store was damaged by fire of undetermined origin. The fire was discovered by Policeman Roy Kleve.

Owner Matt Billesbach said Tuesday afternoon he had not completed an estimate of the loss. He credited quick action by the volunteer fire department with keeping the blaze confined to the storeroom.

Fire Chief Dan Schneiderheinz said the only damage to the display room of the jewelry store was smoke damage and that was limited.

The storeroom building was a cement block structure.

The numbers will be introduced slowly beginning Jan. 1 and will be entered in the identity cards all persons are required to carry, the announcement said.

Love Letters for the Holidays...

Dear Grandad,
Thank you for the check for Christmas. I never got one before. Dad told me it is real money. We are going to take it to the big blue bank downtown. Dad said it will grow into more money there, I am rich. I ate too much candy yesterday. I am better now.
I love you Grandad,
Jane

My dear Jane,
I'm glad you liked the check. And taking it to that big blue bank is a fine idea. Your father and I let our money grow there, too. Please be careful not to eat too much candy. I don't want my little Jane to feel bad again.
I love you, too.

Market Ends Year With Lively Rally

New York (AP) — The stock market rang out the old and disappointing year with a resounding rally Friday in one of the heaviest trading sessions in New York Stock Exchange history.

Prices moved doggedly ahead in the face of an avalanche of yearend selling for tax purposes and portfolio rearrangement.

Volume soared to 19.38 million shares, third highest this year and ninth highest ever.

The trading explosion also hit the American Stock Exchange, where volume burst to a record 11.36 million shares. The previous record of 10.81 million shares was set on June 13, 1968.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials advanced 5.68 to 800.36, closing above 800 for the first time since Dec. 2. On the last day of 1968 the Dow Industrials closed at 943.75.

The Associated Press 60-stock average rose 1.5 to 271.1, with industrials up 3.1, rails unchanged, and utilities up .9.

Surprisingly in a generally advancing market, declines led advances by 11 to 6, with 3 unchanged, among the 20 most-actively traded New York exchange issues.

Occidental Petroleum, off ⅛ to 24⅜ on 241,300 shares, was the most-active. Seaboard Coast Line Industries, off 1 to 33½ on total volume of 210,100 shares, including a block of 192,200 shares, placed second. Other big blocks included 64,400 shares of Ambac Industries and 62,100 shares of Tandy.

Copper stocks were particularly strong as the result of boosts of four cents a pound in the domestic prices of copper by three major producers. Advances included Phelps Dodge 2½ to 50¼, Kennecott 2⅝ to 46¾, American Smelting 1⅛ to 32⅜, and Copper Range 1½ to 67⅝.

Twentieth Century-Fox which gained 2 Tuesday, continued strong and active, closing up 1⅝ at 18⅞. A company spokesman said investor interest apparently had been aroused by the success of three movies.

Glamor stocks moved up as well as blue chips. Gains by three volatile issues included Texas Instruments 3¾ to 124¾, Honeywell 3 to 141½, and National Cash Register 2½ to 160½.

Ling-Temco-Vought ran against the rising trend, losing 2⅛ to 25⅜. The company said it had negotiated a five-year Eurodollar loan of $22 million through its Netherland Antilles subsidiary.

Price changes among the most-actively traded Big Board issues included Benguet, up ⅜ to 12⅜; American Telephone off 1⅞ to 48⅝; Gulf & Western, off ⅞ to 18¾; Texas Gulf Sulphur, off ⅝ to 21⅝; and RCA, off ⅞ to 34.

The American exchange index rose 11 cents to $26.27. Of 1,115 issues traded, 549 advanced and 392 declined.

Fat Cattle Market Levels Off

Omaha (AP) — A declining fat cattle market leveled off on the years final trading session at Omaha Wednesday. Light year end marketings produced a generally steady price level for the day.

Narrowing demand has kept the market on the defensive thus far this week, with most buying interests operating on a cautious and selective basis and not overly aggressive for numbers in view of the holiday work recess. Dressed beef prices at wholesale were also under pressure and drifted lower. Thus, two lower jabs on Monday and Tuesday left values for the three days this week a flat 50-1.00 lower than last week's late levels.

Best buyer inquiry continued to center on better quality cattle on the lighter weight order. With steers upwards of 1,200 lbs very slow to move at times.

Cows meanwhile, continued their upward drive, taking a strong to 50 higher course again. Three solid advances added up to 1.00-1.25 upturn for the week to date. Bulls Wednesday shaped up fully steady and strong on the week.

Feeder cattle trading was quiet.

Butcher hogs were unevenly lower on supplies of around 5,000 head.

Porkers under 240 lbs were 25-50, instances 75 lower while heavier weights were steady to 25 lower. Sows were mostly steady.

Wooled lambs were steady. Shorn were absent. Ewes were quoted steady at 6.00-8.00.

Wheat Futures Prices Advance

Chicago (AP) — Wheat futures advanced nearly 1½ cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade Wednesday and tended to influence higher prices for other commodities on the exchange.

Trade was mixed, although public involvement appeared to be light. The session ended at noon, 1 hour and 15 minutes earlier than usual.

The buying of wheat futures was generally linked to new export business, to short-covering and a report that Argentina's crop might not attain early expectations. Prices eased once off early highs but staged another rally at the close. Rye prices also moved ahead, generally in line with wheat.

At the close, wheat was ⅜ to 1¼ cents a bushel higher, March 1.47½; corn was ¼ to ⅝ higher, March 1.21⅜; oats were ⅜ to ⅝ higher, March 63⅜; rye was ⅛ to ¾ higher, March 1.12¾; and soybeans were 1 cent lower to ½ higher, January 2.46½.

It's A "Happy New Year" For Town And Country

The new year—and the new decade—has come to Town and Country, but before we begin with the news of the 70's, we will have to finish the news of the 60's. Which means, of course, that we still have some Christmas celebrations to tell you about.

Waverly

Jingle bells, jingle bells . . . The holiday spirit was felt all December, throughout Town and Country.

Members of the Waverly Extension Club gathered on Wednesday, Dec. 10 for the group's annual Christmas party. The festivities were held in the afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Ted Doane.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kouma and family had a number of Waverly residents in their Lincoln home for a Christmas celebration. Their guests were Mrs. Kouma's brothers and sisters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Polk and family, and Mr. and Mrs. John Polk and family.

Mrs. Tom Polk, Terry, and Tom drove to Ord for the weekend, which they spent with Mrs. Polk's mother.

Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Shephard enjoyed a family reunion on Dec. 25. In addition to their son, Thomas, who makes his home in Lincoln, the visitors included their sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Shephard and family of Minot, N.D., and Mr. and Mrs. David Shephard and family of Oakland Park, Kan.

Guests for the Christmas holiday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Reiner were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reiner and Scott, who make their home in Belleville, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Carlson and family spent the Christmas vacation in Iowa, where they were the guests of Mrs. Carlson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Greenwood of Emerson, Iowa; and of Mr. Carlson's mother and brother, Mrs. Stina Carlson and Donald.

Firth

Members of the Firth Community Church Dorcas Society gathered on Tuesday, Dec. 30 for their Christmas party. A program and exchange of gifts were included on the afternoon's agenda.

Mrs. John Harms was hostess at the Merry Mixers Extension Club Christmas party on Wednesday, Dec. 17. Ten members and one guest, Mrs. Floyd Graff of Cheney, were present. There was a gift exchange, and gifts were sent to the residents of the Beatrice State Home.

Mrs. Harry Harms was in charge of the program.

Raymond

It was Christmas all over again this week for members of the Raymond Woman's Club, the members of which gathered at the clubhouse for the group's Christmas party. Also present were members of the county extension club.

Hostesses for the Tuesday evening, Dec. 30, festivities were Mrs. Henry Ideen, Mrs. Don Brey, Mrs. William Hellerich, and Mrs. Ray Schleicher.

Roca

Last Thursday brought a family gathering to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Neu, when their sons-in-law, daughters, and grandchildren gathered in Roca home for Christmas Day.

Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gomez, Tim, Toby, and Tony, of Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Steeves, Michele, Deborah, Randy and Lisa, of Panama; and Roca residents Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Chenoweth, Dotty and Julie, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoover, Charlene, Linette, and Lennie.

The weekend after Christmas was also busy for travelers. Mr. and Mrs. Ted Tebo spent the weekend in Eureka, Kan., where they visited with Mr. Tebo's aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Jones, and with his cousin, Fred Jones and Mrs. Jones

Guests are expected at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Williams this first weekend of 1970. The expected visitors are Mrs. Williams' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Vance Ruckle of Torrence, Calif.; her brother and sister-in-law, Col. and Mrs. William A. Beats of Rapid City, S.D.; and Col. and Mrs. Beats' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Larry McQueen of Gibbon.

Bennet

Christmas for Mrs. Fred Harper and Dick Tracy meant a trip to Lincoln, where they spent the day with Mrs. Harper's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Marty Kearns.

Denton

Christmas has been in the thoughts of everyone this past month, not just Christmas week. Members of the Busy Bee Extension Club were no exception when they met on Tuesday, Dec. 9 for the club's Christmas party.

Travelers to Columbus Wednesday evening, Dec. 24, were Mr. and Mrs. James Rosekrans, who spent Christmas with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Rosekrans, and their children, Dee, Doug, and Jama Lynn. They returned to Denton Thursday evening.

Christmas dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Honvlez, Rhonda, Craig, and John, were Mrs. Honvlez's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Perkins, and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Simpkins and Mark, all residents of Lincoln.

On Sunday evening, Dec. 21, there was a Christmas program at the Denton United Methodist Church, presented by the primary and secondary classes. Slides and treats completed the evening.

Traveling to Swanton for a pre-Christmas party on Sunday, Dec. 14 were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson, their son, Steve, and daughter Julie. They were the guests of Mrs. Wilson's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Churchill and their son Russell.

Also present for the festivities were Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Cauldwell of Swanton, and Lincoln residents Mr. and Mrs. Burdette Jones, Tom and Jerry; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Buchannan and Lynette; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Churchill; and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Maca and Virginia.

December Meeting

Meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 16 at the United Methodist Church parlors were members of the Exeter Woman's Club, and their guests. The emphasis was on Christmas, with president Mrs. Richard Underwood reading a poem, "What Is Christmas." Mrs. William Krejci, music chairman, led the group in singing several familiar Christmas carols, and Miss Charlene Fujan entertained with Christmas songs on her accordian.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Rene Rozanek reported on the bake sale, and Mrs. D. L. Adamson reported on plans to sponsor a roller skating party at Geneva on Sunday, Jan. 4, from 2 o'clock to 4.

The program was given by Mrs. William Plouzek, Jr., of Dorchester, fourth district Woman's Club president. She displayed decorations and Christmas wrappings, and demonstrated making glass poinsettias.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Wayne Moore, Mrs. Renye Hass, Mrs. Marie Polak, Mrs. Ray Hall, and Mrs. Reginald Koehn. The next meeting will be on Jan. 20. Husbands of the members will be guests for the covered dish dinner.

Marsh: No Comment Yet On Petitions

Secretary of State Frank Marsh said Wednesday his office is not yet prepared to say whether petitions which the Nebraska School Improvement Association(NSIA) proposes to circulate would be in conflict with a bill passed by the last Legislature.

The NSIA Tuesday submitted forms of two petitions it plans to circulate in a move to force a vote next November on constitutional amendments.

One of the petitions calls for a constitutional limit on appropriations or expenditures of the state or its subdivisions.

The other petition proposes a tax on intangible property at tangible property tax rates for school purposes only, if and when K-12 school redistricting becomes mandatory in the state.

The question awaiting answer is whether either of the petitions is in conflict with the 1969 Legislature's LB935, which states:

"The secretary of state shall not accept for filing initiative or referendum petitions which interfere with the legislative prorogative contained in the constitution that the necessary revenue of the state and its governmental subdivisions shall be raised by taxation in such manner as the Legislature may direct."

Marsh said his office so far has received the form of the petitions and a sheet with three signatures.

He said there have been some "low key" legal discussions on the question of acceptability or non-acceptability in the light of LB935, and his office is approaching the matter "in a cautious way."

Marsh acknowledged that petition campaign sponsors would be in a difficult position were they not able to determine the acceptability of the petisions before seeking or obtaining the 48,640 valid signatures required.

On the other hand, he said, his office's legal advisors have pointed out that so far, the office is confronted with little more than the intent to circulate the petitions.

Public Hearings Slated On Changes In Courts

The Legislative Council Committee on Courts of Limited Jurisdiction announced Wednesday a series of public hearings for five cities in early 1970.

The scheduled hearings are Jan. 16 at Hastings, 1:30 p.m., courthouse; Jan. 17 at Beatrice, 9 a.m., courthouse; Feb. 20, at Fremont, 9 a.m., courthouse; Feb. 21 at Norfolk, 1:30 p.m., city auditorium, and March 13 statehouse.

The study committee is receiving testimony regarding changes in Nebraska's judicial system under a proposed constitutional amendment being submitted to the voters in November 1970.

The proposed amendments would permit establishment of county court judicial districts, give the Supreme Court administrative authority over lower courts and abolish justice of peace courts.

"It is obvious from testimony at earlier hearings," said Chairman Roland Luedtke of Lincoln, "that changes in Nebraska's court system are desirable.'

The committee held December hearings at Alliance and North Platte.

Omaha Company Submits Low Bid

Fuchs Machinery and Supply Co. of Omaha was the apparent low bidder on a machine lathe for the A St. Power Plant. The firm submitted a bid of $6,531.55.

Other bidders were Lincoln Industrial Supply, $7,821.66; Continental Machinery of Denver, $6,560, and Machine Sales Inc. of Omaha, $8,035.

Convict's Case To Be Heard By Board Of Parole

Life-term convict Daniel R. Smith has been added to the list of prison inmates whose cases will be considered by the State Board of Parole Jan. 20.

Smith, 40, of Hastings, is serving a life sentence for first-degree murder in the 1954 death of a five-year-old Hastings boy.

The Parole Board will decide whether to recommend that the state's Board of Pardons commute Smith's sentence to a definite term of years. If a commutation is granted, the inmate could be considered for parole at a future date.

A similar commutation hearing will be held Jan. 20 for Stanley John Nowicki, 47, of Omaha, serving life for the murder of his divorced wife in 1956.

S.SGT. DAVID MITCHELL

Sergeant To Be Tried

Ft. Hood, Tex. (AP) — S. Sgt. David Mitchell will be court-martialed on charges of assault with intent to murder in connection with the alleged massacre at My Lai, the Army said Wednesday.

Sgt. Mitchell has said he is innocent and, further, that he saw no massacre at My Lai March 16, 1968, when the Army accuses him of firing an M16 rifle at about 30 civilians.

He was a squad leader in the platoon of 1st Lt. William L. Calley Jr. when three companies swept through My Lai, a village near the northern coast of South Vietnam.

Abrams Has Pneumonia

Saigon (UPI) — Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, U.S. commander in Vietnam, is suffering from pneumonia instead of a lung inflammation as previously diagnosed, American military spokesmen said Wednesday.

Doctors said Abrams was "making progressive improvement" at Saigon's 3rd Field Hospital where he was admitted Sunday.

Exon Sees Farm Policies As 'Devastating'

Democratic gubernatorial candidate J. J. Exon Wednesday said Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin's recently announced farm policies will be "devastating to the interests of Nebraska's agriculture."

They will "seriously affect the state's overall economy in the immediate future," he insisted.

Exon said Nebraska farmers and mainstreet businessmen will be hardest hit by the portion of Hardin's program that would eliminate the $25,737,456.98 which was "pumped into Nebraska alone last spring in the form of advanced payments to producers qualifying under the wheat and feed grain programs."

Hardin's new policy will not save money by deferring those payments, Exon said. "They will just not be paid to the farmers in the spring when the money is needed as has been the case in the past," he noted.

"Because of the seriousness of the situation, I urge Governor Tiemann and his state agricultural director to leave for Washington immediately after the first of the year to plead the case of Nebraska farmers and Nebraska's economy before Hardin, the rest of the administration and the agriculture committees of both the House and the Senate.

"It's time now for Governor Tiemann to rally the governors of other midwestern states, our own senators and congressmen to fight the good fight for Nebraska."
